Loan Values May Be Depressed if Government Rules Against Mergers

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—No more important outline of policy with reference to the conduct of business in America on a large scale has come from the Coolidge administration than the speech delivered by Colonel William J. Donovan, assistant attorney-general, before the New York State Bankers' association at Quebec.

The speech has been a long time in preparation. It was fully approved by Attorney-General Sargent before being delivered and the general principles contained therein have in turn been endorsed by President Coolidge in his talks with the attorney-general.

In a nutshell, the speech is a warning to the investment bankers of America not to float securities to the American people based on mergers of business which may in themselves be a violation of the general principles of anti-trust law which the consumer through monopoly control of prices.

It means that the government here while loath to act as supervisor of domestic loans is rapidly feeling a responsibility to follow much the same policy as is being followed by the Department of State in the matter of foreign loans.

INSPECT MERGERS

To protect themselves against investigation if not prosecution, companies which wish to merge with each other may have to carry their plans to the Department of Justice so that careful examination may be made of the terms of the merger and the conditions under which the securities are to be offered to the investors of the country.

This procedure is not relished by the government any more than it is by the business or banking world. But the tendency to make large flotations of securities to the public on mergers that may or may not be basically sound and which some day may themselves be depressed in value because of government action under the trust laws is giving the administration here considerable concern.

Then there is the danger to the government that a merger once approved will go to the public and securities will be purchased which later may be depressed because of faulty management or the administration which happened to approve such a merger would not wish to be held accountable at the polls for possible losses to individual investors.

EXAMINE LOANS

So the policy that is being considered is one which on the one hand will not involve any direct approval of domestic loans or securities, yet on the other hand will not cause big business or the banking world to hesitate to go ahead for fear of ultimate prosecution. The Department of Justice may do as the Department of State does, namely invite the big banking institutions before making any big loans on domestic mergers to lay the facts before the Washington authorities. Then after an examination if it appears there is no anti-trust law being violated and no misrepresentation of values in the terms of the security offering, a brief statement would be made to the effect that the Department of Justice sees no objection to the public flotation of the loan.

While such a policy will not be received at first as salutary, nevertheless there are some here in government circles who believe that ultimately it would be preferred to a policy of uncertainty with the government ready and able to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery by starting an investigation just about the time plans for a merger are complete and securities are about to be offered.

Colonel Donovan's speech is prompted by such experience as the Department of Justice has had with the merger of the bread manufacturers and sundry investigations it has made recently of the tendency in the banking world to float securities on big business combinations.

GIRL GOES TO JAIL TO SAVE HER DOG'S LIFE

Passaic, N. J.—"Send me to jail, but don't shoot my dog."

This was the plea of Miss Josephine Grabowski, 18, a pretty blond, in police court Tuesday when Judge William E. Davidson gave her the choice of two alternatives after she could not pay a fine of $6.80 for failing to get a dog license.

"Well, you'll have to go to jail, or your dog will be destroyed," the court announced. The girl chose jail. She was escorted to a cell but was released later when friends paid the fine.

URGES G. O. P. TO TAKE STAND ON WET ISSUE

Chairman Ingalls of Racine Wants Convention to Meet Questions Squarely

Milwaukee.—(P)—Conservative Republicans gathered here Thursday to select candidates for state offices and make a platform were urged by Chairman Wallace Ingalls, Racine, to meet the prohibition question "squarely and without hypocrisy or evasion."

Giving attention to the prohibition question as one of the vital issues for consideration of the convention, the presiding officer declared the issue is simply either for or against prohibition.

"The modification theory has two fundamental objections," he declared in asserting there was no middle course. "It violates the constitution of the United States and will bring back the old time saloon with all the attending evils which the people will not tolerate."

"The wet and dry question is the most ambulatory issue or factor that has ever entered American politics. It should be met squarely and without hypocrisy or evasion."

Chairman Ingalls asserted that many people unacquainted by the question of prohibition believe the eighteenth amendment which produced it, invades state rights. Upon this premise, they base their opposition, he said.

ECONOMIC CRISIS

An existing "crisis" in the economic and political life of the state was recognized, Mr. Ingalls said, by the 100,000 members of the conservative Republican organization.

"They are determined to present the issues upon which the redemption of the state must depend and select candidates who will represent these issues with fidelity," he added. Taxation, agriculture and conservation were touched upon by Chairman Ingalls.

The great issue in Wisconsin on the subject of taxation is whether tax measures and tax policies should be adjusted or considered from an economic or a political standpoint.

Mr. Ingalls pleaded for consideration as an economic question with due regard for the various interests in the state agriculture, industry and labor.

Cardinal Hayes Wants Congress Memory To Live

Mundelein, Ill.—(P)—Identifying the solemn ceremonies of the week as containing an adoration going back to the fathers of the human race, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York Thursday pleaded that the spirit and the story of the twenty-eighth Eucharistic congress be diligently perpetuated.

"Let it be carved into the imperishable record of these memorial days," he said in a sermon at pontifical mass, "that the church in America, recognizing the epoch-making character of this congress, will not permit it to pass into history merely as an act of stupendous accomplishment, but will cherish and keep alive unto generations unborn the story of these days of faith triumphant and of glory transcendent."

"Let it not be imagined that we today participate in an extraordinary innovation of Catholic faith and practice," the cardinal said. "We are but carrying on the historic panorama and supernatural pageantry of God's revelation and intercourse with men during the long sweep of the ages that rolled up to the foot of the cross, as well as the centuries that have been unfolded since, in our Christian era."

"Our solemn procession continues and extends the line of believers and adores going back to the fathers of the human race. The saints of the old and the new testament are our 'co-mensales, coheredes et co-socii,' congressists and co-processionists during this very Eucharistic congress."

Recalling the labors of the early missionaries to this continent as giving Christian America an early historic background "emphatically Eucharistic," Cardinal Hayes reminded the throng of pilgrims that "an Eucharistic assembly is neither alien nor law to American soil."

CHIEF TELLS OF PROBLEMS OF ENFORCER

Andrews Discusses Costs, Hopes and Difficulties of Prohibition

Washington.—(P)—An intimate picture of the costs, hopes and difficulties of the federal prohibition agencies was placed before the house Thursday in a report containing testimony given recently by Assistant Secretary Andrews before the house appropriations committee.

He appeared to urge additional funds for enforcement, which are provided in the second deficiency appropriation bill reported Thursday by the committee.

General Andrews placed the total cost of prohibition now at $28,500,000, said one of his chief difficulties in enforcement was handling dry agents who accept $1,000 a month "to look the other way" and conceded under questioning by Chairman Madden that he was an "optimist."

He told Mr. Madden, however, that although he might be a "ridiculous optimist" he expected to see "real beer off the market by Christmas" and when the chairman asked if it would be "just for the winter months," he replied:

"No, I mean off the market."

This colloquy came after the prohibition chief had estimated that 15,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol were diverted to bootleg whiskey last year and that when "cut" this represented at least 30,000,000 gallons of liquor.

Industrial alcohol diversions were confined largely in the "big manufacturing sections east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac," he said.

General Andrews said in "many cases," there was collusion between brewers and prohibition agents, and that he had discharged "a great many men for this reason."

"To what extent is real beer being brewed?" asked Madden.

"No one knows the answer other than this: 'That over this section of the country east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac there has been beer for sale.'"

There were wet spots outside of this area, he said, adding that "all this time there has been beer for sale more or less openly, if you know where to get it."

"Somebody must know where to get it," Madden observed.

"So many of them know that there is not much opposition to the law as it forbids the use of beer."

Citing difficulties in detecting manufacture of "real beer," Andrews said: "If our men are watching one of these plants in a given community, a policeman will come and say 'What are you doing here?' making them uncover themselves as federal agents in order not to be arrested and taken away because they are hanging around."

"Do you mean a local policeman?" asked Madden.

"A regular municipal policeman, but interested in the success of the company."

Prohibition enforcement, he estimated, will add approximately $14,500,000 to the operating expense of the coast guard during the next fiscal year.

U. S. CITIZEN SAYS HE WAS TORTURED BY MEXICAN OFFICIALS

Brownsville, Texas.—(P)—Telling a story of being tortured by Mexican officials, in Matamoros, in an effort to obtain information concerning the shooting recently of a smuggler by United States immigration officers, Nativida Garza, 35, American citizen, is in the hospital here with a broken arm, wrenched shoulder and in a semi-conscious condition.

SCOUR DESERT FOR KIDNAPERS OF EVANGELIST

Seek Man and Woman Who Held Aimee McPherson for Ransom

Douglas, Arizona.—(P)—The search for the two men and a woman who Mrs. Aimee Sample McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist says kidnapped her at Ocean Park, Calif., on May 18, and held her captive in Mexico until she escaped Tuesday was continued through the desolate country south of the international boundary Thursday.

Mrs. McPherson is in a hospital here, where she was brought Wednesday morning. She related that two men and a woman had drugged her at the beach and that she was unconscious until the next day, when she awakened in a shack some where in Mexico. Later she was moved to another house and she escaped while the three were absent, sawing her bindings against a can.

She said she wandered all night on the desert until she arrived at Agua Prieta, across the boundary from here early Wednesday morning when she was found by an American and brought to the hospital here.

Mexican federal troops and Cochise-co posse searched the country from whence Mrs. McPherson said she came but were unable to find a trace of the house. Sheriff James R. McDonald, of Cochise-co, announced after his return that he had possession of Mrs. McPherson's clothing and shoes and that they were not damaged when she was taken to the hospital. The country through which she said she wandered all night is rugged and covered with mesquite, cactus and cat's claw. No evidence of having come through the desert wastes appeared on the clothing or shoes of the evangelist, the sheriff said.

WILL INVESTIGATE CASE

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother left Los Angeles Wednesday to join her daughter here, is expected to arrive Thursday.

Joe Ryan, of Los Angeles, deputy district attorney, is on the same train with Mrs. Kennedy, under instructions from District Attorney Jesse Keyes to investigate the alleged kidnapping "to the bottom."

Keyes also said he would investigate the withdrawal of $25,000 reward posted for the evangelist's safe return, which was withdrawn June 12. The investigation was made necessary, Keyes said, both in evidence of Mrs. McPherson and to the public.

Meanwhile, thousands of Mrs. McPherson's followers assembled at Angelus Temple, the evangelist's shrine near Los Angeles, to conduct demonstrations of joy after having mourned their leader as dead for weeks.

STATE CHURCH UNION MEETS IN MADISON

Madison.—With conferences in the forenoon, recreation in the afternoon and inspirational addresses at night, the state Christian Endeavor union will meet here Thursday for four days. Dr. Ira Landreth and the Rev. A. J. Sharie, Boston, and Dr. Louis Kahenber, University of Wisconsin, are some of the speakers. Sunday a special service will be held under the capitol dome.

Milwaukee.—(P)—The political convention as an adjunct to the primary was declared the only way in which "questions of real public concern" can be solved, in an address by Chairman W. J. Campbell, Oshkosh, at the meeting of conservative Republicans here Thursday.

Pleading for harmony, he declared that if the convention "is not as fully representative of all of the elements of the Republican party of the state as some of you might wish, the assertion still is true that it is far more representative than some half dozen or some two dozen interested meeting in a room with the doors closed."

He attacked the LaFollette progressive organization with the statement that "under our primary system as it stands, those in office hold a convention consisting of anywhere from three to seven delegates—self appointed delegates."

"No one is eligible unless he can be one of the higher officials of the state."

The recent LaFollette-Blaine-Ekern platform was attacked as "consisting largely of glittering generalities."

"This convention has a right to assemble," Chairman Campbell said. "It has a right under the call which brought it together to endorse a full list of officials for the higher state offices. It would seem the height of folly to name any one for office who has not asked for an endorsement and who might even repudiate it if given. It has even been hinted that due to discussions among those who have long held office in Wisconsin, that this convention should make an endorsement of its own for the office of governor, but should confine itself to simply writing a platform in the hopes that among those now in control of state affairs a desirable selection might be made. This policy offers no cure for the situation in Wisconsin. It would be simply the trade of one personal machine for another. The Republicans of Wisconsin might far better put their ticket in the field and go down to sure defeat than do this thing."

IRON RIVER'S FOUNDER RETURNS FOR VISIT

Iron River, Mich.—John MacDonald, 84, now a resident of Denver, arrived here Tuesday to look over the town he helped to found 42 years ago. Mr. MacDonald opened Iron River's first mines in 1884, leasing them from the McKinnon brothers. He was proprietor of the first general store and was the first postmaster here.

FARMER LOSES CAR FOR 6 MONTHS

Len Root of Medina Admits in Court He Was Drunk While Driving

Len Root, 40, a Medina farmer, who pleaded not guilty Wednesday morning of driving on automobile highway 18, appeared in municipal court Thursday morning and changed his plea to guilty. Judge Theodore Berg imposed a fine of $50 and costs and ordered Root not to drive an automobile for six months.

Root was arrested on complaint of E. W. Kavanaugh formerly of Appleton but now of Minneapolis, after a collision of their automobiles Monday afternoon on state highway 18, opposite the county asylum. Root was driving his automobile west while Kavanaugh's machine was traveling east, when the two machines locking rear wheels, Root's car tipped over and was wrecked, while he suffered numerous bruises. Kavanaugh was uninjured but his car was damaged.

12 DRUNKEN DRIVERS SINCE JAN. 1

Manchester, England.—(P)—Inside gray walls of Stankeway jail, a woman—the mother of three children, one of them a baby, was hanged Thursday morning.

Mrs. Louise Calvert, 33, was executed for strangling her landlady, Mrs. Lily Waterhouse and then robbing her. To the end the condemned woman asserted that she was innocent.

Thousands of persons had petitioned the home secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks for clemency. Sir William said he found no ground which would justify him in advising the king to interfere with the course of the law. Among those

VOTE ON M'NARY BILL TO BE CLOSE

Dawes May Be Called Upon to Cast Deciding Ballot on Farm Measure

BULLETIN

Washington.—(P)—The McNary farm relief bill was killed Thursday in the senate.

Washington.—(P)—As the showdown of ballots on the McNary equalization for proposal approached Thursday, the division of senators over this plan of farm relief was so closely balanced that consideration was being given to the possibility that Vice President Dawes might be called upon to cast the deciding vote. Each side, while working desperately for recruits among the little group of doubtful senators, claimed this potential ballot.

The vice president, proponent of the measure pointed out, is one of the few economists identified with the administration who have approved the principles evolved, through his endorsement of the opinion written by Sir Josiah Stamp, noted English economist, holding them sound.

Opponents expressed equal confidence that if called upon to break a deadlock, he would vote with them.

Leaders hoped to bring about a vote on the measure before the end of Thursday's session, with debate limited to five minutes for each senator after 1 p. m.

FREED BANKER TO REFORM PRISONS

Philadelphia.—(P)—Free Thursday, after serving a little more than three years in the eastern Pennsylvania penitentiary for killing three persons with his automobile, Henry G. Brock, Philadelphia banker, was resting at the home of friends preparatory to taking up prison warfare work, to which he said the remainder of his life would be devoted.

It was partly due to this work among the convicts and his purpose to continue this work that he owes his freedom.

Sentenced in April 1923, to serve six to ten years after pleading to second degree murder, he was pardoned Wednesday by Governor Pinchot on recommendation of the state board of pardons.

Brock was a model prisoner and did much prison warfare work at his own expense. At a cost of $20,000 he opened two shops where convicts sold more than $45,000 of the produce of their labor.

Walsh Denies Ordering Men to Use Their Influence in Election

Washington.—(P)—A letter in which Peter Walsh, Pittsburgh superintendent of police, "instructed" members of the force that "we expect a large majority in their respective districts for the Pepper-Fisher ticket" in the recent Pennsylvania primary was produced Thursday before the senate campaign funds committee.

The letter was read by Chairman Reed after which Walsh himself called to the stand as a surprise witness, had insisted that no one asked him to serve in the primary, and that he made no effort to "line up the force" for the renomination of Senator Pepper and the selection of John S. Fisher for governor.

The police superintendent acknowledged his signature at the end of the letter, but said it had been sent only to the detective bureau.

As read by Chairman Reed, the letter was addressed to the chief of detectives and said:

"With reference to the attached list of employees under your command you will instruct them that we expect a large majority in their respective districts for the Pepper-Fisher ticket tomorrow."

"When he had read the letter, Reed asked:

"Dawes asking aid. 'Do you want to tell the committee now that you did not mean to send the police into this campaign to work for the Pepper-Fisher ticket?'"

"No, sir, I did not," said Walsh. "I was then in conditions in Pittsburgh at the time of the primary, the chairman asked:

"Clubs were all running in the city?"

"Yes sir, those chartered by the courts," said Walsh.

"I did not challenge their legitimacy," Reed observed. "Liquor was served in them, wasn't it?"

"I don't know, I never took a drink in my life."

"How long have you been on the force?"

"Twenty-seven years."

"And you were never on one of these clubs?"

"No sir."

"You had complaints about some of them?"

"Yes."

"You investigated them by staying outside of the places to be investigated," Reed remarked.

Walsh explained that when he was "walking a beat" for six years he was in a residential district where there were no clubs.

Mrs. Ada Schmutz Elected Grand Manager of Pythian Sisters at Convention

Approximately 250 Knights of Pythias and 250 Pythian Sisters attended the grand temple of Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Kaukauna. Robert Schmidt was delegate from the local Knights of Pythias and Mrs. Charles Maesch was delegate from the Pythian Sisters. It was voted to hold the next convention at Racine in 1927.

Mrs. Ada Schmutz, of Neenah, formerly grand protector, was promoted to grand manager at the annual meeting of the ladies Wednesday afternoon. Grand officers of Knights of Pythias are John G. Eger of Racine, grand chancellor; F. J. Peterson of Milwaukee, vice grand chancellor; Sydney H. Stuart of Madison, grand reporter; M. M. Gillett of Milwaukee, grand keeper of records; and George Robinson of La Crosse, grand master at arms; Martin J. Larson of Milwaukee, grand inner guard and Fred Heron of Clinton, grand outer guard.

CYCLIST STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Driver Says Glaring Headlights Blinded Him So He Didn't See Boy

While he was riding a bicycle on State highway 18, east of the county asylum, at about 9:40 Wednesday evening, Ronald Getchov, 14, son of Albert Getchov, Spencer road, was struck by an automobile driven by Vincent Forster, E. John-st. Glaring headlights of another automobile blinded Forster and he did not see the boy in the road. Forster declared the lad was traveling west on the highway and Forster was going in the same direction, behind the boy, while the other automobile was traveling east.

The boy was thrown to the pavement and suffered a deep scalp wound, about three inches in length, a bruised chin, and bruises on both hands, right elbow and right knee. His bicycle was totally wrecked. He was taken to a physician by Ollie Sager, 1013 W. Spring-st. and later to St. Elizabeth hospital.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

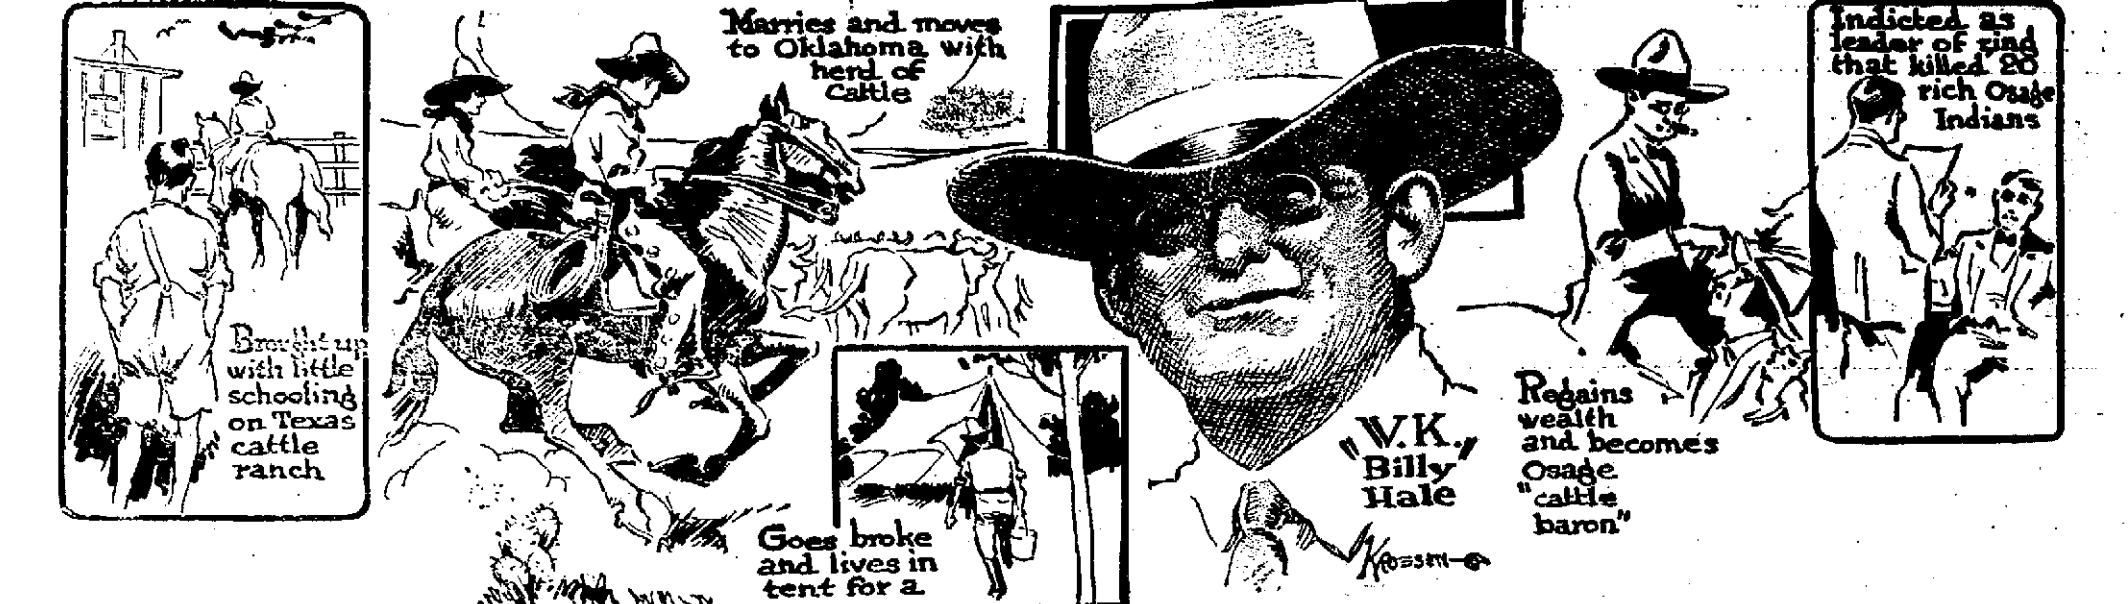

WEATHER CONDITIONS

Low pressure over the Lake Superior district this morning, and is extending its influence over most of the upper lake region. Erratic low pressure overlies most of the south and east. Local showers accompany these conditions. The weather will be more or less unsettled in this section today, as the northern "low" moves past. Somewhat higher pressure overlies the western plains and should advance its influence and cause generally fair weather and moderate temperature in this section tonight and Friday.

BEQUEST LEAVES DOWRIES FOR BRIDES

Julian Poydras, a wealthy bachelor planter of Louisiana who died nine years after the Battle of New Orleans, made a provision in his will by which no poor girl in his parish might ever have to deny herself marriage or defer her marriage because of the lack of a dowry, so necessary, according to the French custom. In Poydras' parish now any girl without a dowry may apply for it through a board of three. The interest from the fund for the year in question is then divided among the applicants for that year.

Life Of Hale, "King Of Osage Hills," May Resemble That Of Character In "Dr. Jekyll--Mr Hyde" Story

Pawhuska, Okla.—The life story of W. K. Hale, "King of the Osage Hills," who is indicted and charged with the murder of W. E. Smith of Fairfax, Okla., and is accused of causing the deaths of a score or more Indians, is a typical romance of the southwest and wide open spaces.

Hale is pictured as the "master mind" of the Osage murders, a keen business man, respected by the Osage Indians and living side by side with them as their friend and counselor; but at the same time plotting their deaths that Indian headrights and property which they owned might descend to him.

Hale is soon to go on trial for the Smith murder. Ernest Burkhardt, his nephew, has pleaded guilty to this crime, saying he committed it at Hale's instigation.

Many residents of Fairfax tell you that "Bill Hale is honest and that it is preposterous to accuse him of the murders. Others shake their heads, hold their silence and look wise.

PRAISE HIS HONESTY

Friends of Hale say that for 25 years he has traded cattle and been partner in transactions involving thousands of dollars and never once has he repudiated an agreement which he made by word of mouth.

Others tell how he stepped in with $30,000 in his own cash once to save a friend's bank when it was threatened.

He has an ideal home life. He is married and has one daughter, Miss Billie, 18, a girl born in the open spaces and now a student at Kidd-Key college at Sherman, Texas.

W. K. Hale was born Dec. 24, 1874, on a small ranch about six miles from Greenville, Texas. His mother died when he was but five years old and until he was 16, when he went to herding cattle, Hale lived the life of a boy on a Texas farm.

His schooling has been slight and largely confined to the pages of McGuffey's reader.

Sixteen finds Bill Hale leaving the ranch where he was born for a cattle herder's life in west Texas. For two years he continued as a herder, eating his meals from the chuck wagon, and sleeping under the stars.

Eighteen, and Hale moves into the Comanche country of Indian Territory. Here he worked on the Surge ranch for about a year, then he returned to Texas where he went into the cattle business. He worked at this business for five years.

The first money that he made in the cattle business was $105 and this he promptly banked. Later he made a deal with Barney Nabbs of Nebraska for 2,000 head of cattle, which was his start of making real money. From then on he handled various deals involving 3,000, 4,000 and 6,000 head of cattle.

At the age of 25, Hale went back into the Kiowa and Comanche country, where he remained for two years.

Wandering into the Osage country, he made arrangements to pasture 2,000 head of cattle and went back to Texas to get them. He was 28 then, and while in Texas he married Miss Myrtle Fry, a school teacher, and a graduate of Henry College.

They lived in the Osage country for a year, then returned to Texas for the winter.

It was in this winter that for 33 nights, in one of the most severe winters in the southwest, he and a companion guarded and kept watch over his cattle that his investment might not be lost.

LOST ALL HIS MONEY

The next year finds Hale and his bride back in the Osage country living in a tent. Adversity stepped in here and he lost everything he had, including a home in Texas. This left him $10,000 in debt but he paid it off and came back financially so that by 1903 he was able to buy crops and a lease on 600 acres of land near Grayhorse, Okla.

Two years later, Hale became superintendent for J. M. Moody of Fairfax and J. C. Stribling of Llano, Texas. After working two years, during which time he handled 10,000 to 12,000 head of cattle each year, Moody took him into partnership.

When the Osage was put on the market, Hale formed a partnership with some friends and bought and sold land. For several years Hale prospered and did thousands of dollars worth of real estate business. During this time he was able to save $100,000. He is reported worth about a half million dollars today.

Rounders Keep Alive Demand for Gotham's Indecent Stage Productions, Priest Says

New York (AP)—The local "man about town" and his "sporting" neighbor from the provinces made up the audience that gives the most encouragement to New York's "sensationally rotten" stage productions, insists the Catholic Writers Guild.

The Rev. John B. Kelly, spiritual director of the Guild, said a survey showed that artistic and financial success in the city's theatrical field was in decent productions, and that only a "minor part of the theatre going public paid big prices for choice bits of dramatic degeneracy."

"And most of this patronage represents the thoughts of men, rather than the inherently malicious," the priest declared. "We have the local cut-up who wants to live riotously for an evening when there is a periodic recurrence of the urge to make an impression on his neighbors of his

WESTERNER TO DEFEND TITLE

California Golfer Will Help Keep Walker Cup on This Side of Atlantic

New York (AP)—George Von Elm of Los Angeles, who will travel more than five thousand miles to help America defend the Walker Cup on the St. Andrew's links of Scotland in June, makes his appearance in the international team competition against Great Britain for the first time.

This powerful Pacific Coast player is no new luminary in the golfing firmament, however. For three years he has been the Far West's greatest threat in the National tournament with a consistently solid game which previously had earned him many laurels on courses beyond the Rockies.

Von Elm made his strongest bids for the amateur crown two years ago, when he faced Jones in the final, after having been eliminated in the round before the semi-finals by Francis Ouimet. In 1923, despite a good start, Von Elm went down before the magic strokes of the Atlanta youth, who clinched the title on the twenty-eight green after having played only two down to par. They met again in the semi-finals of the 1925 amateur tourney at Oakmont and Jones triumphed decisively once more.

Von Elm finished first in the California open in 1924 while he stood out last year as California's ranking player and one of the hardest amateurs in the country to beat.

"Partly cloudy tonight and Friday not much change in temperature," says the Weather man concerning weather conditions in Appleton. "He didn't say rain and colder, although my idea is that we are going to have rain by the looks of things and the 'feel' of my corn. The Old Timer trusted."

On Monday 17 of an inch of rain fell, according to the official gauge at the Schlafer Hardware company while during the thunder showers Tuesday night 16 of an inch fell. On Sunday the temperature started at 45 degrees and reached 47 for the day's high mark. Monday morning it was a little warmer and the official thermometer read 54 with 68 as high for the day. Starting at 52 on Tuesday morning the mercury climbed to 69 and on Wednesday morning the reading was 50, with 71 high for the day. On Thursday morning the quicksilver read 50 degrees and rose to 73, which was the high mark so far this week.

PUBLIC UTILITY HOST TO 1,200 AT ANNUAL OUTING

Traction Company Employees
Hold Picnic at Waverly Beach

About 1,200 employees of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company and its subsidiaries, and members of their families attended the annual picnic at Waverly beach from 10 o'clock Thursday morning until midnight.

The 15-piece band of the Employees Mutual Benefit association of T. M. E. R. and L. company of Milwaukee, arrived in Appleton Thursday morning on a special train to furnish concert and dance music.

One of the features of the program was the releasing of hundreds of small balloons at 2:30, each of which has the name and address of the sender with printed instructions to the finder to return the balloon. A prize will be given to the finder of the balloon which has traveled the longest distance.

The program included obstacle foot races sack races, peanut race, 3-legged races, all for boys from 10 to 15 years; girls foot races and nail driving contests, pie-eating contests, canoe tilting, tug races, swimming races and tugs of war. Prizes were awarded to winners of all events. Horse-shoe pitching and fortune telling was in progress throughout the afternoon, and the "fish pond" drew many visitors.

Officials of T. M. E. R. and L. company were guests of honor at the picnic. Basket lunches were carried by the employees and the company provided additional refreshments.

Dancing throughout the afternoon and evening was a popular amusement for hundreds.

RAINBOW VETS WILL DISCUSS CONVENTION

The Rainbow Division Veterans association will hold its monthly meeting next Monday evening in the armory. It is expected that the association will discuss the annual national convention of the division at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York from July 13 to 15. Reduced rates for veterans attending the convention have been offered by practically all railroads, and the Waldorf-Astoria hotel will make special rates for Rainbow veterans.

CHARTER BUS TO CARRY SINGERS

Sheboygan Choir Will Be Here for Three Days of Saengerfest

A special bus has been chartered to carry the 52 members of the Sheboygan Liederkreis and Concordia to Appleton to take part in the East Wisconsin Saengerfest July 16 and 18. The local authorities, after a meeting with the Manitowoc maennerchor, planned to charter a special train to bring the members from those two cities to Appleton, but Sheboygan had already made the arrangements for a special bus.

Members of the Sheboygan group will be in Appleton for the three day celebration, according to William Egert, Appleton, fest president. Mr. Egert and Peter Jacobs, fest director, attended a meeting of the Sheboygan groups Wednesday night. Mr. Jacobs directed the rehearsal of the clubs.

Appleton Maennerchor will hold a rehearsal Thursday evening at Gil Myso hall.

FREE TWO MEN OF DELINQUENCY CHARGE

Cases against Joseph Cornelius and John Jorgenson, both of the town of Oneida, accused of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls, were dismissed Wednesday afternoon by Judge Berg in municipal court. Motion for dismissal was made by District Attorney Lonsdorf at the request of the parents of the girls. Court costs were paid by Cornelius and Jorgenson.

Model Code Of Regulations Compiled For Auto Drivers

"All motorists wishing to get into "high" society should read these regulations, compiled by a "facetious" pessimist."

Always drive fast, and never sound your horn, when leaving an alley. Always race with locomotives when approaching a grade crossing. Engineers like it as it breaks the monotony of their jobs. Take the shortest route around blind left hand curves; let the other fellow watch out for himself. Never look around when you back up, as there is never anyone behind you. Always speed; it distinguishes you as a driver of pep.

Drive fast on wet pavements and never use non-skid chains. There is always something to stop you—often a heavy truck or a strong curb. Drive just as if there weren't 20,000,000 other cars in service. In wet weather always drive in trolley tracks. It's going and out of the mud. Always lock your brakes and weed chains in the

Nomination

Fred A. Mueller, route 2, Black Creek, present assemblyman from the first district of Outagamie-co., obtained nomination papers from the county clerk's office Wednesday morning. The first district consists of the towns of Bovina, Center, Dale, Ellington, Grand Chute and Greenville; the village of Shiocton, and the city of Appleton.

tool box when skidding. It makes the job more artistic.

In sloppy weather drive close to the curb and splash pedestrians. Dry cleaners appreciate it. Always use a cut-out. Snappy drivers always do, and sick people love it. Never mind your horn on the road, but save it for late at night as a door bell. In this way you will be sure to get attention from mothers of sleeping children.

When driving at night make sure one of your head-lights is out. This makes people think you are Dead-Eye Dick, which greatly enhances your safety. When stopping for traffic signals, always inch onto the pedestrians' right-of-way, and always make your "horse-shoe" turns at intersections where traffic is heaviest.

"DIRTY BRATS"

Because the representatives of Ohio in congress are opposing the Illinois river waterway appropriation, the Chicago Tribune calls Ohio the "dirty brat of the American family." That is the attitude of the Tribune and of Chicago toward any state, city or community which questions their infallibility or does not kow-tow to their self-assumed greatness. It is the Tribune's opinion of Wisconsin, for Wisconsin is allied with Ohio in resisting the water steal, but the Tribune does not call Wisconsin a dirty brat because it is afraid the people of this state would boycott it and Chicago merchants. We are too close to Chicago to permit them to talk about us except behind our backs, and yet we know they despise us because we are fighting for our rights in the Great Lakes. Ohio is not within the Chicago market. It deals with the East probably more than the West, so it can be maligned with a dirty tongue.

Indiana and Michigan also have joined Wisconsin in the suit to stop the raid on the lakes and are opposing the Illinois river waterway project. They are, therefore, the same kind of brats to the Tribune and Chicago as Ohio, but they are not vilified because the Tribune circulates a few thousand newspapers in them and because they buy too much from Chicago.

Heroic effort is being made in the senate to prevent passage of the Illinois waterway project at this session. It is fully justified. By the time another session convenes its members may be made to see through the conspiracy Chicago has framed up to rob the Great Lakes. Because it is a dirty deal all around, the Tribune uses dirty words and Chicago dirty methods, both to deceive the unthinking and to intimidate those guilty of defiance. Chicago wants the Illinois waterway project authorized because it wants to legalize its theft of water from Lake Michigan, water it is using to evade the construction of sewage reduction works at heavy cost, and which it is selling to power interests at a huge profit. If that were not the case it would be hollering its head off for the St. Lawrence seaway, an outlet to the Mid-West to any market it now enjoys or ever hopes to enjoy for its products immeasurably superior to an outlet down the Mississippi river. The Tribune is not interested in the Mid-West nor in the lake-to-the-gulf waterway, nor is the city of Chicago. That is all bunk. They would betray the Mississippi valley or any state or city in it without batting an eye if it do so meant some selfish gain.

Those with a case do not call the other side names. Men who believe in the righteousness of a cause, or that the merits of a controversy are with them, do not call those who disagree with them dirty brats. The Tribune uses strong-arm and black mail methods because it has no case, and because it knows in its own heart it is treacherous. Also, because it is a newspaper of that type. It knows it lies about others and maligns them. A disturbance of conscience only increases the bitterness of its outbursts.

If Ohio is a dirty brat, what term would adequately describe the state of Illinois with its Small and Herrin, and Chicago, with its crime and filthy politics? Chicago is out to rob the Great Lakes states. If it can't do so with a shell game, it will use a gun. Let the dirty brats who cross its purposes keep their hands in its pockets and beware.

ECONOMIZING IN GOVERNMENT

The further President Coolidge goes into budget reform the more he is sold on its value to the country. Governmental economy is almost an obsession with him, not merely with the idea of saving money to the taxpayers, but because he believes the practice of thrift is a great national need for the strengthening of American character, and is an antidote to some of the alarming tendencies of the day.

Mr. Coolidge wants the federal government to set an example in economy and efficiency that the states, cities and individuals will emulate. He is convinced that one of our first national needs is to counteract the extreme restlessness which prevails, the false values given so much that is superficial, the reckless expenditure of money on frivolities and worthless objects, extravagances that are beyond one's means and an altogether light way of living. He believes that this program of economy, if it is understood and supported locally and personally by the people will furnish an antidote, and recall to a larger place in our national life those virtues which have made us morally as well as materially great.

The president is ever on the alert for ways and means to advance this policy. He believes that many millions of dollars can be saved to the federal budget by reducing the administrative personnel, or, in other words, cutting down in top-heavy payroll. He would not discharge employees indiscriminately, but he would follow the suggestion of the budget director and refrain from filling vacancies caused by death or resignation until the working staff gets down to what is approximately the government's requirements. He makes the very sensible observation, which every employer will instantly second from his own experience, that more men than are needed to perform a job increase inefficiency. The right number of men can do the same job quicker and better. That is why a reduction in force often increases output and all-around efficiency.

The administrative branch of any government, particularly when it is made up of a large number of boards, bureaus, commissions, etc., will become top-heavy with expense in a comparatively few years. In Austria they found an excess of from 60,000 to 70,000 state employees when the government was re-financed. In Italy Mussolini found a similar condition. At Washington the duplication of work and excess of working staff were appalling. It has been very greatly reduced in recent years, but it is still excessive.

One can imagine what this tax overload is in the government of Wisconsin, where we have boards, bureaus, commissions ad infinitum, all manned by politicians who have avowedly built up a machine at public expense to keep themselves in power. Not only this, but never has there been an effort in this state in a generation or more to really clean house and to do in the interest of state economy what the president and Budget Director Lord are doing in the interest of national economy at Washington. It is a free-for-all frolic with the public purse.

WOUNDS OF JULY 4TH BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service

In years gone by a large number of cases of lockjaw, or tetanus, as it is properly named, were reported every year in the United States after the celebration of the Fourth.

July 10 to July 15, as observed in past years, might with propriety go down in health history as Tetanus Week, since between those dates cases of tetanus from wounds received in Fourth of July celebrations usually developed.

These cases of lockjaw developed from wounds inflicted by explosives used in such celebrations. It was partly due to the prevalence of tetanus following the Fourth of July that a movement was inaugurated to make the observance of this holiday safe and sane.

There are two reasons which may be given for this rather remarkable decline in the cases of tetanus following the Fourth. First of all, more careful treatment of wounds and the use of anti-tetanus as a prophylactic has helped; and second, the observance of the safe and sane Fourth.

Tetanus is a dangerous disease, due to a particular kind of germ introduced into the human body by some sort of injury is only slight. Tetanus may be regarded almost solely as a wound complication.

Yet all wounds are not equally liable to this complication. Punctured wounds, lacerated, torn and bruised wounds, are much more susceptible to tetanus infection than are open or clean-cut wounds.

After all, the size of the wound is of very little importance. Fatal cases of tetanus have developed in the past from very slight wounds such as insect bites, splinter, pin scratches and wounds caused by the explosion of fire crackers, blank cartridges and toy pistols.

A little grease on top of a pond kills mosquitoes, and yet they seem to thrive on fat people.

About time for the thermometer to bestow a few honorary degrees.

A woman carries almost as much trash in her handbag as a man does in his pockets.

Claim a Memphis, Tenn., judge drank five gallons of evidence. He certainly was investigating the case.

INTOXICATED CHILDREN

The brain of a child a year old weighs about two pounds. The average weight of the brain of an adult is three pounds. Thus the child has a pound of brain to 10 pounds of body, whereas the adult has only about 3 1/2 ounces of brain to 10 pounds of body. This doesn't signify a great deal, for we know that some idiots have brains which weigh more than the brains of some intellectual giants. But it is interesting to know that the young child has proportionately more nervous tissue than the adult has.

A child will have a spasm or convulsion from causes which in an adult would produce only a chill. The child's nervous system predominates. A child has a higher fever, as a rule, than an adult does, in any feverish sickness. Where an adult might have a temperature of 101 degrees F., a child would very likely have a temperature of 104 degrees F.

It is a well recognized rule that a child ordinarily requires a smaller dose of medicine to produce a given effect than an adult requires, the dose for the child being most accurately determined by the ratio of the child's weight to adult weight. But in the case of a sedative, a young child requires proportionately larger doses because the young child has proportionately more nervous tissue to be acted upon by the drug. In the case of a stimulant on the other hand, the young child needs a relatively smaller dose than the adult or older child. This might suggest, for the same reason, that the child manifests higher fever or convulsions from causes which would produce in an older person only slight fever or shivering.

Now these simple facts ought to make it clear why children need no such stimulants as tea, coffee, strychnin, and the like, and no such narcotics as alcohol, tobacco, paregoric, soothing syrup.

No Tea, Coffee or Cocoa For Children

An adult who is not an invalid or under medical care for any ailment may ordinarily take tea and coffee in moderation with no ill effect and perhaps with definite benefit to health or at least more enjoyment of life. But seldom can a child under 16 years of age use these beverages which cheer without intoxicating, because in children the reaction to these stimulants is excessive. Among the evil results of tea drinking or coffee drinking in childhood are peevishness and irritability of disposition, disturbed or restless sleep, wakefulness in the late evening when a regular youngster should be peacefully pounding his ear, in some cases bed wetting in some cases impairment of digestion and underweight, and in many cases abnormal precocity. Milk is the health beverage for children. Pure, fresh milk, if it is imperative to disguise the milk or to flavor it, in order to make the child drink it, flavor it with caramel (burnt sugar) or with chocolate or cocoa, or preferably one of the blends of malt sugar and cocoa. Straight cocoa or chocolate as a beverage is less harmful to children than tea or coffee, but it is by no means a desirable substitute for milk or even for hot soup.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Neuritis May Be Cured

Is there any cure for neuritis? (R. R.)
Answer—It is as difficult to answer this question briefly as it would be to tell you whether there is any cure for fracture, a wound, fever, or a pain. Inflammation of one or more nerves may be due to so many different causes. Then, too, in the majority of cases of so-called "neuritis" the diagnosis is wrong; that is, the lameness or pain which the victim imagines is "neuritis" is not of that origin at all. This is the usual error when the victim glibly refers to his "neuritis" without a thought about the specific character of the trouble. Unfortunately the term "neuritis"—which means simply inflammation of a nerve—appeals to many people as a classy name for their aches or pains or ailments. Among the causes of actual neuritis are alcoholism, lead poisoning, injury, focal infection, and extension of inflammation from adjacent structures. Neuritis does not just happen from such vague or fanciful causes as "exposure to cold" or "rheumatism" or "auto-intoxication"—though these phrases may soothe a patient's anxiety for a time when the doctor is at sea.

LOOKING BACKWARD

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 27, 1901
Marriage licenses were issued the previous day to Edward Schuchlecht of Appleton and Ida Krigh of Black Creek; Andrew Schuch and Miss Mary Schell of Freedom.

Miss Carrie Morgan, who for several years had been superintendent of the public schools, was unanimously re-elected at the annual meeting of the Board of Education the previous night.

Miss Elizabeth Hollands of Oshkosh and Bert Ansel Greeley of Appleton were married the previous Tuesday at the home of the bride.

Miss Maude McCaul returned the previous night from Elmira, N. Y., where she had been graduated from the Elmira Women's college.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pearson entertained at a dinner party the previous night at their home on Prospect-st.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Schlafer were to leave July 8 for a trip to California and other points along the Pacific coast.

Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Paul papers complimented Mayor Hammel on his recent order forbidding the use of cannon crackers, pistols, fireworks, cannons, revolvers, or other explosives on the streets and alleys of Appleton on the Fourth of July.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 22, 1916
A marriage license was issued that morning by County Clerk Wolf to Robert A. Rahn and Lulu Walt, both of Black Creek.

George Wettengel returned the previous night from Shawano and Clintonville where he had been on a business trip.

Humphrey Pierce returned that morning from Watertown where he had attended the grand lodge of Knights of Pythias.

Karl Haugen, who had been married a short time previous to Miss Barbara Schaefer, left Boston where he had been spending his honeymoon, the previous Tuesday for Camp Douglas. Mrs. Haugen and Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Schlafer left that day for Quebec, Canada on their return home.

A committee composed of Eugene McKee, Joseph Schweitzer, Frank Freeman, George Lausmann, George Schmidt, Col. A. L. McKay, Charles Emmer, Frank Wentink, George Wettengel, and Joseph Plank was to have charge of a dance to be given on June 28 for the Mounted Orderlies at Waverly beach. The money derived from the dance was to go into a fund being raised for Appleton soldiers.

Dear Rollo:
It has often been said that June is the month for brides, wedding cakes, marriages, showers etc. etc. It certainly is true in June 1926 and the beauty of it is that everyone in Appleton is enjoying at least one of the above mentioned features this year.

True, we can't all be married this month and we can't all have brides and wedding cakes and honeymoons, but we have had showers every day for the last two weeks--yes and generous ones too. Yes, Rollo June is a wonderful month (to get all wet).

Kouhti Kari.

CAPPER OPPOSES MATTRESS FRAUDS

Senator Introduces Bill Demanding That Product Be Certified

From the Detroit News.

In a world full of things to worry about, Mr. Capper of Kansas has selected the mattress traffic in the District of Columbia. Mr. Capper is unequivocally for truth in mattresses; he is unalterably opposed to counterfeited mattresses and mattresses whose contents travel incog. In fact, Mr. Capper stands for the very highest probity in the great mattress industry in Washington.

Mr. Capper has, therefore, introduced a senate bill, the fruit of long premeditation, covering some penalties for the manufacture in the District of Columbia of mattresses bearing any misleading label or statement as to the materials used. No such mattress may be used in barter. Mattress makers accustomed, perhaps, to giving away their bogus merchandise as tasty little gifts, possibly to fill a Christmas stocking, are enjoined by the Capper bill from doing so hereafter. Nor may a dealer have in his possession such a mattress, nor harbor any "quilt, comfort, pad, pillow, cushion or bag filled with hair, down, feathers, wool, cotton, excelsior, jute or any other soft material designed for sleeping or reclining purposes" which does not frankly indicate its inner nature.

We have wondered lately why the senator has contributed less than his usual wont to the Italian debt discussion and other themes of current moment. The truth is out. He has been applying himself to true mattress legislation. We have only one criticism to offer. Mr. Capper is a champion of the embattled farmer. Why, since mattresses are a subject worthy of national legislation, has he not thought to alleviate the woes of the corn planter by adding to his measure a simple requirement that all mattresses in the District be filled hereafter with husks?

Q. What was the first organized army in the history of the world?
L. G.

A. Historians say that Egypt was the first country to have a military organization. Sesostris or Rameses III was the first military organizer of Egypt (1820 B. C.). Palamedes in 1133 B. C. was the first to form an army in a regular line of battle. The first guards and regular troops of a standing army were formed by Saul in 1023 B. C.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

THE BRILLIANT CONVERSATION OF ANATOLE FRANCE

There is an amusing chapter in the Beswellian record, "Anatole France himself," by his secretary, Jean Jacques Brousson, in which a particularly persistent myth about the great three-fourths yards of muslin, nine and a half yards of lawn, seven and a half yards of calico, five and a half yards of gingham, or fifty-seven spoils of thread.

Q. What are gophers? F. S. B.
A. Gopher is the term applied to several American rodents. The true gophers belong to the Geomyidae family and are known as pouched rats or pocket gophers. The most common species is about nine inches long, with an almost hairless tail about two inches long, and weighs about 13 ounces. Its legs are short; its forefeet strong and well adapted for burrowing. The animal is reddish brown on the back and sides, ashy beneath, and has white feet. It burrows in sandy soils, throwing up the earth in little mounds, and subsists on grass, root, nuts, buds, and farm vegetables.

Q. Is malleable iron formed by casting or forging? A. E. D.
A. It is cast-iron that has been rendered tough and malleable by long continued heat while embedded in powdered hematite, ferric oxide, or some other decarbonizing material, and allowed to cool slowly.

Q. What is the average salary of an engineer? D. W. G.
A. It has been estimated that engineers make from $2000 to $4000 a year after being out of school five years; between $2500 and $6000 after ten years; between $2700 and $7500 after 15 years; and between $2800 and $8500 after 20 years.

Whereas the fact is that there was no more mystery about it than there is about reciting the multiplication table. Next Brousson proceeds to give a sample of a genuine conversation of Anatole France in the privacy of his home where he is not on parade. To quote again: "It is laborious, uneasy, grating, breathless, discordant, full of contradictions." There is a flash of wit now and then but as likely as not it is given clumsily, to be polished up through careful rehearsing and later used with telling effect in the "official" conversations.

In real conversation France was only a blundering person like most people and he did not talk literature.

The chapter is amusing and instructive because of the light it throws, by analogy at least, on nearly all great men. In official biographies, often dictated in spirit at least by the family, we get official pictures of the great man's life that are no more authentic than Anatole France's official conversations. Literature is full of that kind of thing, especially in biography and autobiography, so much so that when once in a couple of centuries some one speaks the unvarnished truth about himself, as did Benvenuto Cellini, the world cherishes it as a great work of art.

MUCK-RAKING LATELY
There has been a large amount of muck-raking in regard to the lives of great men recently. Persons whose bumps of hero-worship are depressions have been enquiring into the real lives of world heroes and have dug up a lot of things that official biographers have never touched. Ernest Boyd has done a series about great English writers, in which men like Milton seem much less solemn than have always been supposed to have been. George S. Wellman has said things about Robert Louis Stevenson that have made the Stevenson worshippers furious. Several have inquired into the daily habits of George Washington.

In the course of such researches many mistakes are doubtless made and unless a great man has had a Boswell while he was alive there is no possible chance to be absolutely certain that the muck-rakers are not going to the opposite extreme. But the attempt is understandable. They are trying to substitute real human beings for the official personages that myth has painted.

And meanwhile any average reader of biography and autobiography is wise if he keeps the two conversations of Anatole France constantly in mind.

Program At Dedication Of Flag Pole

How to make Strawberry Jam keep the color and flavor of the fresh berries

Your jar will taste enough like fresh berries to use in strawberry shortcake if you make it this new, easy, short-bell way with Certo. Save the following recipe to use for your first batch of strawberry jam.

Cut in halves lengthwise with stainless knife about 2 quarts of small or medium sized fully ripe berries. After halving, weigh out 2 lbs. berries, or measure 4½ level cups of berries, packing solidly into the cup until juice and fruit come to the top of the cup. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in ½ cup Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with hot melted paraffin.

The short boiling time, possible only with Certo, prevents the loss of delicate flavor and the darkening in color which used to occur during the old long boil. It also gives you a larger amount of jam, since you save the large quantity of juice which used to boil away.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jellifying substance of fruit refined and bottled. A book of simple recipes comes with each bottle.

Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 8 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 2647 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y. adv.

Classes will start the first week in July.

FASHION HINTS

PERHAPS IT'S TRUE
From Paris comes the information that the higher waistline and lengthened skirt are on the way.

PATRIOTIC EFFECT
The navy blue crepe frock of this season is often collared and cuffed with white, and given some brilliant red at some particular point.

OLD-FASHIONED IDEA
The quilted coat is not confined to silk and to light fabrics, but is seen in kasha and rep as well. Usually the quilting is done in the same tone as the material, though a contrast, as gold or silver traceries are also seen.

FLANNEL COATS
Flannel coats in pastel tones have straight lines and tailored collars, and are very youthful and charming.

SHOES MATCH FROCK
The most attractive footwear for midsummer comes in linen and may be had in all the delicate colors to match up the summer frocks.

MORE INTERESTING
The printed silk of this season is often veiled with a dark chiffon or georgette, which gives it a much more subtle proposition.

DARKER HOSIERY
Gun metal hosiery which gives the effect of a sheer black stocking, is more popular now with the dark suit or frock than the nude shade.

THEY FIT WELL
The yoke idea is very popular in lingerie, some of the most attractive night gowns have yokes of georgette crepe, fitted and outlined with lace or French flowers.

NOT SO NARROW
Some of the most attractive slips have pleated flounces or have seen.

Household Hints

EASY TO DO
If you will enamel the inside of your bureau drawers with white enamel, you will find this an incentive to keep them neat and tidy.

FOR CLEANING
Old pieces of velvet and velveteen should be saved as they make excellent polishing clothes and pads.

GOOD COLOR SCHEME
Always keep your white satin shoes and your white silk lingerie wrapped in blue tissue paper. This prevents yellowing.

DUSTLESS DUSTER
You can make a very satisfactory dustless duster by saturating cheesecloth with water and wringing it out.

USEFUL, TOO
Umbrellas have never been more attractive. Some of the newest have embroidered designs, as well as intricately carved wooden handles.

TWO WOMEN FOUND HELP

By Reading Experiences of Other Women

Mrs. Nina Matteson, Box 206, Oxford, N. Y., writes:—"If it had not been for your medicine, I could not have done my work as it should have been done. Mother told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had read in different papers what it had done for different women."

She wanted me to try it, so my husband got me one bottle at first; then I took two others. * * * Now I am feeling quite strong again."

Mrs. Ernest Tanguay of Adams, Mass., says she was ill for four years and could not sleep nights or go out on the street. She read about the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking eight bottles she was able to do all her work and go anywhere and is quite herself again.

This dependable Vegetable Compound is a household word in thousands of homes. The fourth generation is now learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If this medicine has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you? At your druggist's.

Grow Hair this New Way!

A scientific study of Hair troubles has resulted in an entirely new method of scalp treatment. This treatment is totally unlike anything you have seen or heard of before. Its simplicity will delight you. Its results amaze you. But one application a week is needed for many scalp troubles. It leaves no after-odor—no greasy effect.

Guarantee In Writing
Many extravagant claims have been made before. Often the public has suffered. But now our fair offer. This method must stop Falling Hair. Must destroy Dandruff. Must grow hair—no money back. There are no strings to this guarantee. It is in writing. It appears in every package. You are fully protected.

Seborrhea Causes Baldness
Well may you wonder at such a broad guarantee. But this treatment is not a mere tonic. We have studied hair troubles scientifically—and discovered some amazing facts. We found that the hair grows from a bulb—not from a root. These hair bulbs are made to die from natural causes. They don't come out with the hair. But frequently they become weakened. Then hair troubles commence. Seborrhea is most often the cause. Infection sets in. The hair becomes dull, lifeless—starts falling. Eventually baldness takes place.

But here is the marvelous thing. Remove infection—stimulate dormant hair bulbs to renewed activity and the hair grows again.

New Method Combats It
Now we have found a way of combatting Seborrhea. A new method for stimulating hair growth. This treatment is called STIM. The principle is scientifically correct. It is not just a tonic, hence its amazing success. It must stop Falling Hair. It must destroy Dandruff. In writing we guarantee that it must grow hair—or money back.

Results Are Guaranteed
No matter what your condition—or how many "hair troubles" you have without avail—you now owe it to yourself to give this scientific method a fair trial. It must stop Falling Hair. Must destroy Dandruff. Must Stimulate Hair Growth—or it costs you nothing. You are the sole judge. In every package is our written guarantee that results must appear in you or money back. Could we possibly make you a fairer offer? We urge you to accept it today. SANITAS CO., Brooklyn, N. Y. A3

Someone Made A Faux Pas At Mellon Wedding, But They Say Bruce Was O.K.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington.—"That was a terrible break you made at the Bruce-Mellon wedding, one of his fellow congressmen remarked the other day to Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore.
"What a break?" stammered Hill turning pale.
"You had on the wrong kind of collar and tie to go with a tuxedo coat," his friend informed him.
"I did not," cried the Marylander hotly. "I had on exactly the right kind."
The other produced a newspaper clipping.
It was a picture of Hill, in elegantly cut morning coat, high standing collar with turnover corners, a black string tie, and of course, all the accessories.
"What's the matter with that?" the party's counsel demanded.
The friend produced another clipping.
It was a picture of David K. Este, Bruce the bridegroom in tail coat, turndown double collar and a light four-in-hand.
"Well, he's wrong," Hill insisted indignantly. "I don't care who he is. That kind of neckwear and a morning coat are downright incongruous. My way's the right way."
"What Dave Bruce made a mistake like that at his own wedding?" exclaimed the friend incredulously. "Isn't that?"
"By this time quite a crowd of congressmen had gathered around the disputants, in the House of Representatives' lobby.
Hill appealed to them.
Opinions differed. Some favored Hill, some his critic and some held that Hill's collar and tie and Bruce's collar and tie were both all right—that it was a mere matter of taste on the part of the wearer.
At this point Representative Cooper of Wisconsin passed.
Cooper has worn a cutaway for nobody knows how many years.
The debaters stopped him and took a look.
He had on Hill's kind of a collar and Bruce's kind of tie.
Hill refused to call it a draw. He still contends that his combination was absolutely O. K.
In the absence of his son who, with his bride, is on his way to young David's father, Senator William Cabell Bruce of Maryland, is equally positive that his offspring's setup was correct to the last detail.
What gives a touch of especial bitterness to the dispute is the fact that the two schools' respective proponents are from the same state and the same town. Civil strife notoriously is the worst strife of all.

CLINTONVILLE GIRL WEDS MAN FROM OHIO

Clintonville.—John Lienhard of Cincinnati, Ohio and Vida Brooks, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Brooks of this city were married at the home of the bride's parents at high noon Monday, June 21. The attendants were: Irent Brooks, sister of the bride, and Oliver Anderson.
The bride's father performed the ceremony. Little Marion Lienhard was the flower girl. Dinner was served to about 30 relatives after the ceremony. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lienhard of Almond, Mrs. Peter Anderson, Racine, Ruth Anderson, Racine, Martin Brock, Lena and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brock and family, Gillett.
The young couple will take an automobile trip through Yellowstone park. They will make their home in Cincinnati.
Dr. Fairchild returned from a week's visit at Chicago and Philadelphia. Mrs. Fairchild who accompanied him on the trip remained for a month's visit at Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sturitzel and Frank Brown of Laona visited at the E. Plopper home on Sunday.

H. S. TEACHERS TAKE UP SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES

Several Mentors Will Do
Graduate and Research
Work in State University

Nearly all the teachers of Appleton high school who plan to return here next year are taking special summer courses or graduate work at universities throughout the country, according to H. H. Heible, principal of the local school.

Mr. Heible will spend the first six weeks of the summer vacation doing registration and special work at the high school here and the last six weeks will be spent at the teachers college at Columbia university.

C. Willard Cross of the social science department will have charge of the cherry pickers camp at Sturgeon Bay. He will be assisted by B. W. Wells, formerly of the history department of the local school. Mr. Wells will teach at Madison next year.

Warren Wright of the history department is selling gas and oils for a wholesale company.

Misses Elsie Mueller and Ruth Becker of the Latin department are taking a summer course at the University of Chicago.

Misses Catherine Spence of the home arts department and Dorothy Vestal of the physical education department are doing graduate work at the University of Minnesota summer school.

Miss Blanche McCarthy, head of the history department is doing special research work at Madison.

Miss Ruth McKennan of the public speaking department is traveling with a Chautauqu in the northwestern states.

Miss Erma Henry of the biology department is doing graduate work at the University of Wisconsin.

Harry Cameron of the manual arts department is doing special studying at the University of Wisconsin. Robert Grant of the manual arts department is taking a summer course at Oshkosh normal.

Miss Ruth Saecker of the chemistry department is making a tour of the eastern states and eastern Canada. Clement Ketchum of the physics department is working on a farm near Wausau.

U. S. WILL COMPETE IN BOAT RACE ON THAMES

London.—(P)—For the first time in the history of the historic River Thames an international boat race will place this year for the Duke of York's international gold trophy.

The course will be over the Putney to Mortlake Boat Race stretch and six lanes will be covered. At present four countries have signified their intention to compete—the United States, Great Britain, Canada and France—and it is hoped that Italy and Germany also will enter. The races are scheduled to begin June 26. England won the trophy in 1924 and 1925, last year's winner being Captain Woolf Barnato, who has again entered.

WOLF'S

Pat And Mike Stories, Outdoor Exercise, Simple Food Will Enable John D. To Live To Be 100

BY ALLENE SUMNER
(Copyright, 1926, by the Post Pub. Co.,
Cleveland, O.—John D. Rockefeller, modern Mias whose hand has always turned all that it touched to gold, will live to be 100 years old.

This is the decisive statement of his physician of nearly half a century, Dr.
Hamilton Fisk Biggar of Cleveland, who has lived and played with Rockefeller for months at a time.

And the attainment of a century of life by the world's richest man will be largely to Pat and Mike, those two Irishmen who have contributed much to the joy of the world.

IT KEEPS HIM YOUNG

"Mr. Rockefeller loves Pat and Mike stories," says the doctor, who is 87 himself, three months older than his famous friend and patient. "And it is largely his keen sense of humor and his delight in good stories that keep him young."

The world's richest man, says Dr.
Biggar, has learned the laws of long life as have few men.

"And what he has done, anyone can do," says his physician.

"It is merely a matter of common sense, living the simple life, physically and mentally and spiritually.
Only enough food to maintain vitality—eating to live, and not living to eat."

Daily setting-up exercises and outdoor exercise through golf or some other pastime.

Happiness in family and home and friends.

"Religious belief and piety
"A keen sense of humor
"Eight or ten hours of sleep
"A mind utterly free from worry

THAT'S HIS RECIPE

These are the ingredients in the recipe says the famed Dr. Biggar, which have brought John D. Rockefeller to the age of 87, will make him live to a happy 100, and can do the same thing for any person.

"He is every doctor's ideal patient," says Dr. Biggar, "a man who keeps well rather than gets well. He is in better trim than I am. He advises me about my own health instead of my advising him."

"John D. has a sweet tooth, but he would take poison as soon as candy.
Aside from his liking of sweets food means nothing to him. Eating is boredom. He hates luncheons, banquets, any sort of feast for sociability.
He feels that human beings should be able to get together with something more than a groaning table as the excuse."

Fruit, vegetables, light meats, keep the world's richest man young, he says. Rockefeller never drinks cold water. Always lukewarm, even on the hottest days.

CAREFULLY REGULATED

He regulates his life to the day. The temperature of the day is told him each morning and he plans his day accordingly. Seldom does he play more than eight holes of golf. His average score is 45 for the eight holes.
Sometimes he plays the customary nine.

He guards his health with eternal vigilance. It even slightly indisposed he stays in bed and rests.

"Mr. Rockefeller really enjoys life," says Dr. Biggar. "He wants to live as many years as possible. That's why his health is so important to him."

John D. loves the old hymns, the old ballads. He hums "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe" and "Annie Laurie." He reads and reads the 121st and 51st psalms.

"But he is not merely an old machine looking after his body and forgetting other people," says Dr. Big-gar.

"I have traveled more than 200,000 miles with him. I have crossed the continent with him many times, and been abroad with him many times."

"He has never forgotten my comfort at any time. I have never been a guest in his home but what he came in to see if the windows were properly opened if I had enough blankets, wanted anything."

STARTED BY A GAME

A game of blind man's buff began the friendship between the doctor and his patient. John D. had been playing the game with his children. He ran into a sharp corner and cut his forehead.

"I was called, and he begged me to fix it so that he would have no scar," says Dr. Biggar. "That job began our friendship. That was 46 years ago."

Again and again the old doctor stressed the repartee, the sparkling humor, the love of epigram in the world's richest man.

"I once saw him look at a cartoon of himself—a very bad one—and he laughed and said, 'wouldn't that rock-a-feller?'"

"He loved to tell the story of the days when a Cleveland boarding house keeper made him eat the leavings at second table because the other boys complained of the odor of crude oil about him. He sat on the porch

Dr. Biggar

until the others had eaten and left, then meekly went in and took what was left.

"When he was attacked for 'tainted money,' he would laugh and say
'wouldn't some of them like some of that tainted money, though?'"

"Once John D. went to buy a car.
When he asked the cost of maintenance, the salesman said, 'it depends on the price of gasoline.' Mr. Rockefeller said, 'I guess I can afford it then.'"

ROTARIANS PLAY GAMES AND FEAST AT ANNUAL PICNIC

Baseball Game Is Big Attraction at Outing for Luncheon Club

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Rotary club held its annual outing Wednesday afternoon at the Kaukauna Gun club grounds. About twenty-five Rotarians and their wives and families attended.

The afternoon was spent in playing games. Sides were chosen and a red hot baseball game was held. However there were too many 300 hitters who lambasted the ball all over the lot to permit the scorekeeper to keep an accurate record of the game. But everyone participating as well as the spectators enjoyed the game. Some of the members indulged in trap shooting. Hugo Weisenbach made a fine impromptu score by breaking 24 out of 25 targets.

ANOTHER RECORD CROWD AT COOKING SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Another record crowd of women attended the Wednesday afternoon session of the sixth annual cooking school sponsored by the Kaukauna electrical and water departments. About seventy-five women were present Wednesday and all were enthusiastic about the school. The classes are being held in the demonstration room of the municipal building with Miss Helen Weisenbach in charge. She is assisted by Mrs. Francis Rosenau of this city. The school will close after Friday afternoon's demonstration.

CONTRACTORS START PAVING ON TAYLOR-ST

Kaukauna—The McCarthy Construction company started paving Taylor-st Tuesday. One side of Depot-st has been completed and the company found it much easier to continue down Taylor-st than to go back and start the other side of Depot-st. Grading on Taylor-st has been completed. Wednesday engineers of the company surveyed the roadway to be paved between the Union Road and Paper Corporation mill and the new bridge. This strip will be paved after Depot-st and Taylor-st are finished.

WOMEN NET BALLERS PLAY ON CITY COURTS

Kaukauna—The girls' tennis matches scheduled for Tuesday afternoon will be played Thursday afternoon. The games were called off Tuesday on account of wet courts.

Many entries are coming in for the boys' double tennis tournament. Everyone in the city interested in playing tennis may enter.

Later in the season a singles tournament will be held for the girls.

FORMER KAUKAUNA BOY BRINGS TENT SHOW

Kaukauna—The Fred Reeth Players will come to Kaukauna for a stay of one week starting Monday. The Fred Reeth company is a tent show and will show at either the ball grounds or municipal play grounds.

Fred Reeth, manager of the show troupe, is a former Kaukauna boy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Reeth, formerly of this city.

CLINTONVILLE MAN IN PULPIT AT KAUKAUNA

Kaukauna—The Rev. H. Jackson of Clintonville, will occupy the pulpit of First Congregational church Sunday in the absence of Dr. John Denney. Mr. Jackson is well known here and is an interesting speaker. The hours for the Sunday services will be the same as usual.

GUN CLUB WILL HOLD PRACTICE SHOOT SUNDAY

Kaukauna—Another practice shoot will be held by Kaukauna Gun club at its shooting grounds Sunday. This shoot is open to all men interested in shooting. There will be no limit to the number of targets shot at. The shoot is a preliminary to the next league match to be held in July.

The Kaukauna trapshooting team is tied for second place in the Northwestern Trapshooting league and will have a chance to go into first place at the next league shoot. Kaukauna broke even in match with the Green Bay team and swamped Appleton 3 to 0 in the match at that city last Sunday.

HOMAN TRANSFERS WIN ANOTHER BALL GAME

Kaukauna—Homans Transfers went into first place in the soft ball loop by winning an 8 to 5 game from the hard hitting Bankers Wednesday afternoon.

The game was hard fought from the beginning but better team work won for the moving team.

The undefeated Thimpany crew meets the rising Electricians Thursday afternoon.

ZWICK FLATTENS OHIO FIGHT FOE

Kaukauna Bantam Knocks Out Mickey Dugan in Second Round

Kaukauna—Phil Zwick, local bantamweight boxer, pounded his way to his thirteenth straight victory since leaving Kaukauna last fall by knocking out Mickey Dugan of Cleveland in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout at Cleveland. Zwick has won four fights since arriving in Ohio and is now being offered places on some of the best fight attractions in the state.

Zwick got his opponent early in the first round, according to Cleveland newspaper dispatches, and had him crouching from the start. After dropping Nugent once in the first frame Zwick waded in to put over the finishing blow. Shooting over a short left to the jaw Zwick dropped him again, but the bell saved him. Nugent was able to stand up for a short while under Zwick's terrific hammering in the second but finally gave way and was counted out.

For Your New Home

YOU will want plastered walls of course, for no satisfactory substitute has ever been found for the smooth, even, jointless surfaces of good plastered walls. But there is a vast difference in plastered walls; some remain perfect for many years, others soon become cracked, marred and unsightly. The reasons for this difference and the way to positively insure the finest in wall construction are interestingly discussed in our free booklet on walls of Climax Wood Mortar entitled "Walls of Everlasting Beauty." Write for it now. It will pay you to read it.

Be particular when it comes to plastering—a small item but a big factor in home beauty.

STAGE AND SCREEN

"LOVEY MARY"

A good director and good actors, at their best.

That, in brief, is the verdict on "Lovey Mary," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture directed by King Baggot which is showing at the Elite theatre today and tomorrow. Bessie Love, William Haines, Mary Alden and Vivian Ogden have the leading roles and more capable artists would have been difficult to find.

"Lovey Mary" is essentially a comedy, but there is an undercurrent of pathos whose interpretation affords Bessie Love a remarkable opportunity for a convincing display of her exceptional histrionic ability.

The story of "Lovey Mary" has been taken from the book of that name by Alice Hegan Rice, author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and the characters and locale are the same in both stories.

It cannot be said that the book has been transferred to the screen with absolute fidelity, but it can be said that the screenversion is a tremendous improvement over the book, both in drama and interest.

Bessie Love as an ugly duckling, with pigtails, freckles and shabby clothes, will be a shock to many of her admirers, but her artistic and sincere portrayal of the little orphan slavey who lavishes all her pent-up affection on the baby waif, will more than compensate for her histrionic loss of beauty.

William Haines has the leading male role opposite Bessie Love, and as Mrs. Wiggs' boy Billy, driver of the cabbage patch milk-wagon, he is thoroughly acceptable as a romantic hero.

The recreation of Mrs. Wiggs' cabbage patch, ramshackle buildings, weird inhabitants and all, is an interesting bit of work and the types in the film are worthy of a laugh.

To sum it up, "Lovey Mary" is a good picture that is bound to make you laugh a lot, it may make you cry, and you can be certain that it will entertain.

The satisfactory cast includes Russell Simpson, Martha Mattox, Ross Gore, Sunshine Hart and the child, Jackie Combs.

CHILLY WEATHER KEEPS TOURISTS FROM CAMP SITE

Seventy-five Car Owners
Have Registered at Alicia
Park Grounds This Year

Cold weather and rain have not encouraged the average tourist much this year and only about 75 car owners have registered at the campsite at Alicia park, according to Earl L. Lutz, caretaker. Despite unpromising conditions, however, the number of tourists is increasing from week to week.

Out-of-state tourists most frequently avail themselves of the campsite, and before the year is ended practically every state of the Union will be represented, Mr. Lutz believes. Several California automobiles have visited the camp this year, while a car from Pennsylvania is presently at the east.

READY FOR COLD
Most motorists come with enough heavy clothing and bedding during the early part of the season to enable them to endure cold weather without much discomfort. They are prepared for cold spells as well as for heavy rains, Mr. Lutz declared.

There is no distinct "class" of persons which stops at the camp ground, but occasionally there are undesirable. If a visitor is undesirable, he is told to leave the grounds. Mr. Lutz has assurance of police support. Up to the present he has not been obliged to use it.

Most of the trouble makers apparently come from Chicago. They are usually the nondescript who presume upon their "big town" character and swagger over the ground with the apparent intention of "showing the world." This type is an exception, however, and is representative of only a few of the many annual Chicago visitors at the camp. Tourists may cook their meals in a furnished barn. Two stoves will be provided for their use. Gas will be available later through slot meters. The upper story of the building may be used as sleeping quarters in case of unusually severe weather.

A modern building for the convenience of tourists probably will be built this year, according to Mr. Lutz. It will probably have gas and water connections.

PICNIC SPOT
Large numbers of Appleton residents use Alicia park for picnic purposes. Mr. Lutz pointed out. In spite of unfavorable weather, groups appear almost daily to cook breakfast, dinner or supper. Their meals range from wieners to full-sized dinners with all the "trimmings." A kitchen range is provided in a little shack, but most visitors prefer to cook over an open fire. Plenty of wood is provided.

The park is a popular place for "potting parties," after the lights go out at 10 o'clock. No parking of automobiles is allowed after that time, but often cars without lights find their way through the darkness, Mr. Lutz declared. When these are discovered the occupants are promptly told to move on.

KLANSMEN WILL GO TO PICNIC AT FOND DU LAC

Independence day celebration on July 4 and 5 by the sixth province of the Ku Klux Klan which comprises Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Winnebago, Brown, Outagamie and 15 other counties in this section of the state will be held on a 15-acre plot just outside the city limits of Fond du Lac.

The Titan or organizer for this district has direct charge of the celebration and is being assisted by several committees of Fond du Lac Klansmen.

Invitations to attend the event have been forwarded to Klan units in the province and it is expected that several thousand Klansmen will gather in Fond du Lac if weather conditions are favorable.

Afternoon and evening services will be held on the grounds on July 4 and a street parade will be held in the afternoon of July 5. The parade will be followed by a speaking program at the grounds in the afternoon and a large class will be initiated in the evening. A display of fireworks also will be given in the evening.

HEEDLESS BOYS MARK UP U. S. MAIL BOXES

Several mail boxes and relay boxes for mail carriers in the city have been marred by writing or otherwise damaged, apparently by thoughtless boys, according to Postmaster William H. Zuehlke. The youngsters and their parents are warned by Mr. Zuehlke that meddling with mail boxes in any manner is an offense against the United States government, which may be punished by a fine as high as $500 or by a 2-year prison sentence.

35 H. S. STUDENTS GET OFFICE JOBS

All of This Years Commercial Department Graduates
Have Secured Positions

Appleton merchants and professional men have recognized the good training received by the graduates of the Appleton high school commercial department and every one of the 35 students in the class of 1926 has obtained a position and is at work, according to H. H. Helble, principal. Many of the students had positions before school closed, according to Mr. Helble and all of the students were placed within a short time after.

Practically every year the demand for graduates of the commercial department for positions in local offices and stores exceeds the supply. At present the office has two positions which are waiting to be filled. One is for a stenographer and the other for a bookkeeper and typist. These positions will be filled within a day or two, according to Mr. Helble. The positions held by the graduates this year range in pay from $40 to $55 per month depending on the importance of the work and the ability of the individual.

The commercial course at the high school includes training in business arithmetic and business geography, typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping, office practice, salesmanship, and some training in operating office appliances. Before the junior high schools were inaugurated the commercial course covered four years, but the program has been revised and the student now covers all of the work in three years.

COUNTY SCHOOLS SIGN UP MENTORS

All but 15 of the 119 Outagamie-co Rural Schools
Have Teachers for Next Year

With 15 exceptions all of the 119 rural schools of Outagamie-co have secured teachers for 1926-27 school term, according to A. G. Meating, superintendent of county schools. Several teachers may have been engaged by school boards but not reported. Superintendent Meating indicated. Practically all of the 15 remaining positions are tentatively filled.

Few changes will be made among teachers of state graded and village high schools. A new principal has been engaged for the Shiocton school. No changes will be made in the personnel at Hortonville and Black Creek. There are 131 schools, including 119 rural, 6 state graded and 6 village high schools, under Mr. Meating's supervision.

The turnover of teachers in Outagamie-co has decreased to a great degree during the past few years, Mr. Meating stated. At present there are more teachers desiring positions than there are vacancies to be filled. Most teachers in rural schools of the county are Outagamie-co Training school graduates.

RECEIVER WILL SELL PROPERTY OF SIMON FARM

Cheese Factory and Supplies
Will Be Sold to Satisfy
Claims to Creditors

Final disposition of the unsold chattels and personal property of the N. Simon Cheese company, probably will be made at the receiver's sale at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning June 30, according to William H. Zuehlke, receiver. The sale will be held at the Tesch warehouse, 515 N. Appleton-st.

More than $500,000 was lost to investors of Appleton and vicinity through the failure of the Simon company. Nicholas Simon, Jr., secretary of the company, was sentenced to a 2-year term in the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., in March, 1924, when he was convicted of misrepresenting the financial condition of the company.

The property consists of cheese factory supplies and equipment, including tubs, boxes, pulleys and shafting, tanks, two warehouse trucks etc. No estimate of the value of remaining personal property for disposal has been made.

SCHRIMPF AND KOCH HONORED BY STATE EAGLES

Appleton Aerie to Honor Drum Corps for Winning Cup at Convention

Appleton Aerie of Fraternal Order of Eagles was honored at the state convention at Plymouth by having two of its members elected to offices of the state organization, according to a report given by delegates Wednesday night at Eagle hall. Charles Schrimpf was elected state treasurer and A. G. Koch, past state president, was appointed chairman of judiciary and budget committee. Delegates to the convention were Nels Galpeau, Andrew Schiltz, Charles Sample, Elmer Turner, Paul Sell and Charles Schrimpf. Mr. Schrimpf reported on the meeting of secretaries of aeries of the state which was held on the opening afternoon of the convention. It was decided to hold the school for secretaries on the first day of the convention hereafter.

WIN LOVING CUP
The local drum and bugle corps was awarded a silver loving cup in the competition at the convention Saturday morning. Other corps in the contest were from Neenah, Marshfield, Beaver Dam, Kenosha, Merrill, Sheboygan and Appleton. It was decided at the meeting Wednesday night that a program be arranged for the meeting on June 30, in honor of the drum corps. Officers will have charge of arrangements.

Drill teams that took part in the parade on Saturday were from Neenah, Marshfield, Beaver Dam, Kenosha, Merrill, Sheboygan, Appleton, Racine, Fond du Lac, Wausau and Plymouth. This was said to be one of the largest parades ever held. It was voted to hold the next state convention at Fort Atkinson unless the national convention is held at Milwaukee in which case the state convention will be held there.

OFFICIAL SEWER NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the city of Appleton, Outagamie, Wisconsin, heretofore duly adopted a resolution ordering and directing that sewers be placed in the following streets, to-wit:

WILL PORTRAY NAVAL HISTORY AT EXPOSITION

Historic American Battleships Will Be Represented at Philadelphia

Philadelphia—(AP)—The evolution of Uncle Sam's sea fighting machinery will be disclosed in Philadelphia's historic old shipyard as one of the many features of the Sesqui-centennial Exposition.

The frigate Constellation will represent the period of the Tripolitan and French wars and the War of 1812, at a time when the pride of the fleet was mounted with 32-pound cannonades. A full crew will be aboard to explain the ancient workings of the vessel.

Nearby will be the Monitor Cheyenne, last of this type of ship and the connecting link between the Monitor of the Civil War and the present day dreadnaught. At the same dock will be moored the Olympia, flagship of Admiral Dewey at the battle of Manila.

Alongside in striking contrast will float a modern destroyer and submarine, hulls vessels undergoing repairs, a battleship being modernized, scout cruisers, and auxiliary craft being overhauled.

The navy's exhibit, besides the ships, will consist of a comprehensive collection of historical and current material, including uniforms, models of famous ships, pictures and implements of warfare.

Replicas of the carronades carried by the Constellation and Constitution will be found mounted in their place of old. Around this ship will be centered the exhibit of 1812. There will be pictures of her commanders and trophies of her exploits at sea. The Olympia's upper decks and cabin will be restored to their Spanish war condition. Relics of the Civil and Spanish wars will decorate the Monitor and Olympia groups.

A collection of ship models at uniform scale will enable visitors to further visualize the increase in size as well as change of type of America's sea protectors in 150 years. Models to be shown include the Bon Homme Richard, Constitution, Ohio, Hartford, Monitor, Merrimack, Chicago, Brooklyn, Oregon and the aircraft carrier Lexington.

The Philadelphia navy yard opened in 1819 with the construction of small wooden vessels. Today it has an estimated value of $200,000,000 and covers approximately 1000 acres. Its activities include construction of everything from an airplane propeller to the most modern steel war ship.

FILIPINOS USED QUEER GREETING

Woman Who Taught Savages - Strange Password Again Visits in Islands

Manila—(AP)—The phrase "Good Morning, Mrs. Kelly" which was widely used a quarter of a century ago among the Igorotes who inhabit the mountain province, was recalled when Mrs. Alice McKay Kelly of New York, stopped here for a brief visit to the scenes of her work during the early days of American occupation.

Back in 1901, when Mrs. Kelly with her husband went into the mountain province—she to teach the Igorotes a better way to live and he to look for gold—the couple experienced great difficulty in gaining the confidence of the primitive people. But one day when a chieftain of the tribe approached their tent, pitched among the pines, she offered him a can of sardines at the same time placing her hand on his shoulder. She indicated that she was his friend.

Mrs. Kelly did not know a word of the Igorote's dialect and they could not understand English. She held the chieftain's attention, repeating the words "Good Morning, Mrs. Kelly" until he finally understood that she expected him to return the salutation. He left chanting the words, and a few days later returned at the head of this colony, to whom she had taught the salutation. In a chorus they saluted Mrs. Kelly with all the English they knew, "Good Morning, Mrs. Kelly."

For a number of years until the Igorotes learned something of the English they were accustomed to salute all foreigners with the phrase "Good Morning, Mrs. Kelly."

Oshkosh Man Tells Kiwanians Those Who Obey Laws Are Americans

Neenah—“Americanism” was the subject by Attorney Frank Keefe of Oshkosh, at the luncheon of Kiwanis club Wednesday noon in the dining room of the Equitable Fraternal union building. The speaker flayed everyone who lives up to the laws are Americans and flayed any society or organization which interferes with the rights of these people. A feature of the meeting was the dinner prepared by William Tauber, a member, and his assistants. The club discussed the diving tower which it is to construct at the municipal bathing beach. The committee in charge was instructed to confer with Oshkosh authorities to secure plans for a structure similar to the one in use at the Oshkosh bathing beach. The club also decided to enter its indoor baseball team in the playground twilight tournament.

GET DOWN TO FINALS
IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Neenah—Carl Gaertner and Louis Draves will play the finals in the tennis tournament in the first ward. Gaertner defeated Franklin Becker and Draves defeated G. Pearson in the semi-finals. In the first round of the third ward tournament Olson defeated Blank; Schmidt defeated Foth; Shea defeated Krause and Hyland defeated Stecker. In the 12 year old event in the third ward, Kuehl defeated Schermerin and Larson defeated Hanson. Kuehl and Larson are in the finals.

Another event to be placed upon the program is a twilight indoor baseball tournament for business men and clubs. Kiwanis and Rotary clubs have entered teams.

CLERK FINDS PARCELS
LOST FROM STOLEN CAR

Neenah—Miss Lillian Gibson, deputy city clerk, here, told Oshkosh police Wednesday morning, that she found sample cases and other articles thrown from the car of William H. Hoepfner of Eau Claire when it was stolen Tuesday afternoon in Oshkosh. When Carl Johnson, 21, of Philadelphia was taken into custody in Appleton Monday afternoon, the sample cases were not in the car. He told the authorities that he had thrown them from the car after turning west off route 15, on a side road at Gillingham's corners. A search was made but they could not be found.

Johnson, who was arrested in Appleton shortly after he stole the car in Oshkosh, pleaded guilty in municipal court and was immediately given a sentence of not less than one year nor more than three years in the state reformatory in Green Bay.

DREDGE MAKES RAPID PROGRESS IN LAAGOON

Menasha—The caterpillar steam shovel engaged in dredging a lagoon opposite the city park for the new municipal bathing tank is making rapid progress. Below the soil, which is about four feet deep, is a solid bed of rock. The lagoon will have an inlet and outlet which will permit the current of the river to flow through it. The earth is being thrown up on each side of the lagoon and will be used as filling. The excavation will be completed within a few days.

MENASHA BOY SCOUTS
AT BOY SCOUT CAMP

Menasha Woodenware troop No. 2 of the Valley Scout council is camping for a few days at the scout campground on the east shore of Lake Winnebago. P. O. Keicher, executive of the valley council, is with the scouts. Troop 9 has 28 members. The boys have been in camp since Monday and the first scouts in the council to use the camping grounds this year.

LITTLE BUTTE DES MORTS

Menasha—Very few pike and pickerel are left in Little Lake Butte des Morts, according to August Biesing, who has been shipping live carp to the eastern market for the last ten years. The number caught in their nets with the carp and returned to the water has been decreasing rapidly of late years until now they haul in very few of them. Mr. Biesing is unable to say what has become of them. Carp still are plentiful, however, although large quantities are taken from the lake each year he does not believe there is any method by which they can be eliminated.

SAILOR ON VACATION

Menasha—Winne Dibble, a former Menasha young man who has been in the United States navy for the last 12 years, is home on a 30 days vacation. He is stationed at San Francisco, Calif.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Miss Naomi M. Oberweiser, daughter of F. J. Oberweiser, 487 Racine-st, and Richard J. Peplinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Peplinski of Pulaski, were married at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Patrick's church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George A. Clifford, pastor. The attendants were Miss Helen Oberweiser, sister of the bride; Miss Anita Kelly of Chicago, cousin of the bride; Al Goodmeyer of Milwaukee; and Henry Kelly of Chicago, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the brides parents after which Mr. and Mrs. Peplinski left for Chicago. St. Louis and other cities. Upon their return they will spend the remainder of the summer at Shawano lake and will be home in Pulaski after Oct. 15. The bride is a graduate of Menasha high school and Lawrence college and taught school for two years at Pulaski. The bridegroom is district manager of Wisconsin National Life Insurance company.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Peplinski, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Peplinski, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peplinski, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maslowski, Dr. V. J. LOVE OF SPORT GROWS IN U. S.

One-sixth of Population Attended Contests Under Municipal Sponsorship Last year

New York.—(P)—One-sixth of the population of the United States and Canada last year attended sports contests under municipal sponsorship, while the number of participants increased to more than half a million. The Playground and Recreation Association of America in its annual report gives these figures as an evidence of the growing popularity of recreation. There was an expenditure of $18,816,165 for public play by cities in these countries.

Public recreation originally was a children's movement, but today nearly fifty percent of participants in municipal sports are adults, said the report.

Public golf, which five years ago was not important enough to list, is now played in 130 cities. Tennis courts totalled 6,110 in 474 cities in 1925, as against 4,865 in 410 cities in 1924.

Swimming pools primarily for adult use more than doubled in the last five years and now total $79. Five hundred more quonit courts were reported in 1925. Ball fields, general athletic fields, bowling, picnic grounds and skating places also reported big increases.

More than 20,000,000 spectators saw league games in the various sports, which was a gain of two and a half millions over 1924. Players totaled 555,043, a fifty-five percent increase.

Baseball continued to top the list in popularity, showing 161,768 players in 310 cities with more than 11,000,000 spectators. Basketball and quonits were about equal.

The children's division also enjoyed good gains, reporting 5,508 play areas in 748 cities.

Expansion of the work brought about such a demand for trained workers that 432 employed leaders in 100 cities last year attended courses for such recreation training.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

ERNEST LYNN, author of THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home of their own shortly after their baby girl is born and the advertising agent in which John is partner and copy writer, lands a new contract.

Previous chapters told how John, a romantic individual, was fascinated on meeting NELL ORME, of whom PAT FORBES, one of John's best friends, hints that she is having trouble with her husband.

DR. DICK MENEFEE marries MARGARET WAXLEY, and John is best man. Margaret's younger sister, CLARA, runs away and marries CLIFTON LANE, whom John cordially dislikes.

A party is given by NOEL and VERA BOYD, and Vera shows an interest in John which he does not return, but which arouses Fay's jealousy.

Noel Boyd later boasts of the arrangement between him and his wife, Vera, whereby each leaves the other free to do as he pleases. John and some other men show surprise and Noel angrily accuses them of being hypocrites.

Fay takes the baby to Chicago, to visit her relatives, and John, after weeks of loneliness, discovers that Pat Forbes' wife is away and the two of them knock around together. Pat takes John to call on a couple of girl acquaintances of his. There is a lot to drink and a violent quarrel starts between Pat and CORA, one of the girls.

NO GO ON WITH THE STORY
(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XXVI
"Hold on, now, hold on," John cautioned Forbes and broke the other's hold on Cora's wrist. "Don't cheapen yourself, Pat," John whispered in his ear. "Remember, you're a little above drunken brawls. Let's get out of here."

Pat appeared to be thinking it over. "All right," he said suddenly, and without another look at Cora, he went in search of his hat.

John looked toward the other girl, Pearl, and thinking some explanation was due her, said, "We'd better go," and pointed significantly to Cora, who had flung herself in a chair and was sobbing drunkenly. "I'll let me keep you," Pearl said sharply, at the same time tossing her head in disdain, and John felt sudden anger at her and with difficulty checked hot words that rushed to his lips.

"A good place to get out of," he commented to Pat as he half led the sobered Forbes down the hallway. "They never acted this way before," Pat said sullenly. "I don't know what got into Cora."

"Maybe I was a Jonah, Pat," John laughed. "She'll be sorry for this," Pat commented half to himself.

John looked at him quizzically and once they were out on the street again, he stopped and spoke sharply to Forbes.

"Look here, Pat, how long have you known this Cora?"

"Why do you ask?"

John ignored the question. "She said she had something she could tell on you. Now, I'm not going to lecture you or anything of the kind. My only advice is not to give any of Cora's kind the opportunity to tell anything on you. Do you get me?"

Pat answered wearily. "Oh, I get you, all right, but what's a man going to do when things at home go blue? Martin thinks I'm rotten anyway, and sort of tolerates me. Damn it, John, if it weren't for the kids, I'd have broken it up long ago."

"Pat, you wouldn't talk like that if you hadn't been drinking."

"Wouldn't? Well, you don't know how things stand."

"Well, regardless of how they stand, you can't leave the children out of the equation. Don't try to kid me. Maybe there are times when you and Marian get on each other's nerves, but things are not so bad as you're trying to make them out. Anyway, if you feel the need of companionship, for heaven's sake pick out somebody, not quite so impossible as those two tonight. They're cheap, Pat, cheap."

"I told you I didn't expect you'd fall in love with them," said Pat vigorously. "Cora was jealous, that's all."

"When they begin to get jealous it's a good time to forget 'em," remarked John drily. "If you're going on any more parties while Marian is away, let's make 'em stag parties."

Two nights later, the night before Marian Forbes was due to return to Appleton, the two of them went out together, to celebrate the "last night of my parole," as Forbes expressed it. Coming from a theater, they met Paul Davidson, who suggested adjourning to his home to test a new consignment from his private boot-legger.

It was the first time John had seen Davidson's apartment, and he was surprised at the elaborate and tasteful furnishings. He commented on this to Paul, who waved a graceful hand and remarked, "It's one reason why I don't marry. I'm too fond of my own comfort."

There were pictures of several beautiful women, all of them autographed, and a few of them, John learned, of actresses whom Paul had played with.

"Too bad I didn't know Marian was away before this," Paul said to Forbes. "We might have had some parties up here."

Pat laughed. "Well, don't count me out just because she's coming back. There'll be another day."

John and Forbes left shortly after, both of them, however, from the effect of some very excellent imported Dutch gin that Paul had served.

They went home to John's house found himself wanting to see Fay and Judith.

The telephone on his desk tinkled and roused him from his reverie. "Hello," he called and a feminine voice—a very delightful feminine voice he thought—said "Hello is this Mr. Milburn?"

"Yes."

"Well this is Dorothy Francis," the voice said and he almost dropped the phone for his mind had flashed back to his undergraduate days and his first meeting with the girl who was known as "the belle of Hanover."

"Well well," he said. "What are you doing here Dot?"

"Don't you read the papers?" she asked. "I'm here with the musical comedy 'Helene'."

"Oh, I know you were on the stage, all right," he said hastily, "and knew you were getting along great, too. But I've been so darned busy lately," he alibied, "I've scarcely glanced at the papers and I've absolutely ignored the theatrical news."

"I discovered you by accident," Dorothy Francis went on. "I saw your name on your office window, and remembering you'd always been interested in advertising, I thought it must be you."

"Glad you did. Well, Dot, how long you going to be in town?"

"I'm leaving Saturday night. I'd like to see you before I go. I want to talk business with you."

"Are you sure it's business?" he laughed, and she retorted. "How do I know you're not married?"

"Seriously, though, she went on. 'I'd like to discuss something with you.'"

"Well," he said, "I'll meet you at your hotel at six o'clock this evening and we'll have dinner."

That suited Miss Francis perfectly, and John spent the rest of the day in pleasurable anticipation. At four-thirty he walked importantly into a barber shop and addressed the head barber:

"Give me the whole works. Adolph, and Adolph winked and said, 'Ah-hah! And your wife away, too. Eh?'" all summer long!

A COOL KITCHEN

Take a tip from the six famous cooks who tested Perfection.

Be cool!

Hot days are coming! Escape sizzling kitchens and wood or coal drudgery. Six famous cooks recommend the Perfection for cool cooking. Here's what they say.

"THE food gets all the heat—the kitchen none," says Miss Rosa Michaelis, New Orleans cooking expert. "In the Perfection burner," she explains, "the heat is confined directly to the bottom of the cooking pot. That means cool cooking!"

Mrs. Belle DeGraf, the San Francisco authority, suggests Perfection "top stove" cooking for hot summer days.

Least Time, Least Heat

"When I fried chicken, glazed sweet potatoes and boiled pineapple pudding," she relates, "I used only the top of the Perfection. The food cooked quickly and efficiently—and of course, the shorter the cooking time, the cooler the kitchen." That means cool cooking.

"Yes, and remember," adds Mrs. Kate B. Vaughn, famous Los Angeles Home Economist, "the least fire in your stove through the day, the cooler the kitchen. With Perfections no time is lost in heat generation because cooking begins with the touch of a match to the wick."

No Hot Extra Work

"Then, too, the Perfection saves a world of extra work," says Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, pioneer cooking specialist of Philadelphia, "no wood or coal to carry in nor ashes to carry out."

At Battle Creek College of Home Economics, the nutrition expert, Margaret Allen Hall, speaks of still another "no extra work" point.

"The Perfection," says Miss Hall, "is easily moved from one room to another. Move it to the summer kitchen, out on the back porch—wherever it's coolest. You don't need to bake yourself while cooking meals."

Cool to Work With

The "single row" arrangement of Perfection burners gives you another advantage. Miss Lucy G. Allen of the Boston School of Cookery notices this.

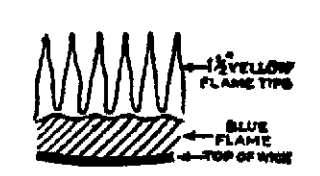

"With the Perfection," she makes clear, "there is no reaching across hot flames as with a gas or coal range. You stay away from the direct heat, yourself."

Escape Sizzling Kitchens

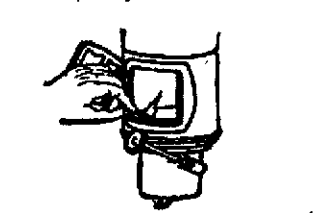

You can escape all those things that make summer cooking the most unpleasant of hot tasks. Your dealer will show you the Perfection today—from the one-burner model at $7.25 to the five-burner range at $130. Six famous cooks tested this stove thoroughly and now pronounce it ideal for hot weather. "Buy a Perfection," they say, "be cool!"

From the Pittsburgh Sun:
OPENING OF THE BAZAAR
TOMORROW

Everything is ready for the opening tomorrow of the greatest charity bazaar that ever has been held in Pittsburgh. Not even during the war, when Pittsburgh, along with the other big cities of America, emptied her pockets for the warriors over there, was there a benefit given on such a scale as the one commencing tomorrow night.

The entertainment committee feels that it is almost kindly coincidence that Fate has brought Miss Perier here to shoot some of the scenes of "Hot Steel" at the same time this bazaar is being given.

She has consented, at the request of Mrs. Sally Atherton, one of her great friends, to speak from the stage of the auditorium every afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton and Mrs. John Alden Prescott have had charge of the flower booth and they have given five thousand dollars toward stocking it. The most beautiful young ladies in the city have consented to be saleswomen where every possible flower will be on sale from the humble daisy to the royal orchid.

Miss Perier will start her picture on next Monday morning immediately after the close of the bazaar. This is causing almost as much interest in the city as the great charity sale. But although all are admitted to the bazaar who have the price of admission, very few will be allowed in the steel mills during the making of Miss Perier's picture.

Telephone Conversation Between Sally Atherton and Paula Perier

"Is that you, Sally?"

"Yes, this is Sally, Paula. When did you get in?"

"This morning. Did Mrs. Prescott tell you when she would come to luncheon with us?"

"Yes, if it suits you Paula, Leslie will lunch with us at the bazaar on the opening day. You see, she is so anxious for Karl Whitney's sake to make the bazaar a success that she is coming over every day and making her appearance both at the flower and the jewelry booths."

"The publicity man seems to think that if you and she are seen taking lunch together, nothing more will be desired."

"I'm rather sorry, Sally, we're not going to be more secluded."

"Well, Leslie says that after you get through shooting your picture she wants you to come to her and we'll all have a luncheon with the children. She knew you'd like that, Good-bye."

"Oh, wait a minute, wait a minute, Sally. I haven't got through talking with you yet."

Adventures Of The Twins

THE BATH TUB TOYS
AND A DUCK

The alligators kept spinning the Twins around until you couldn't have told them from tops.

"Oh, dear," gasped Nancy.

"My goodness!" cried Nick.

"Aren't they cute!" laughed the fat alligator with the ruffles and the velvet lasque. "Let's take them home to our children. They would make lovely bathtub toys. I wonder if they float..."

But before Mister Alligator could answer, an enormous duck, quite as large as an elephant, waddled up.

"What are they?" he quacked.

"We don't know," said the alligator, putting out her paw or her foot or her hand, or whatever it is alligators have, and stopping the Twins as they twirled. "But we think they are what you call people."

The duck bent over and looked at them closely—so closely that the Twins thought he was going to gobble them up. "Queer—very queer," he quacked. "They are neither frogs, worms, nor turtles. So I suppose you are right. I shall take them home to my ducklings for playthings."

But before the alligators had time to say that he would go no such thing and that they intended to take them home themselves, a very large fish hopped up on his fins.

He put on a pair of eye-glasses and gazed at the Twins as though something weighty lay on his mind. Finally he turned to the duck and the alligators. "Do they squeak if you push on their heads?" he asked.

"Have they whistles about them anywhere? Have you tried?"

"Why, no," said Mrs. Alligator, showing all her teeth. "I never thought of such a thing." And before anyone could stop her, she grabbed Nancy with one paw and Nick with the other and pushed hard.

"Ouch!" cried Nick.

"Ouch!" cried Nancy.

"That's fine," said the fish. "I shall take them home to my children."

"I just guess you won't," quacked the duck. "They're mine."

"Just listen," said Mrs. Alligator indignantly. "They belong to us, my dear sir. We discovered them."

"Why, you're only on old bathtub toy, both of you are!" said the duck.

"You're made of rubber, and so is this old fish here. I've got real feathers, I'll have you know."

"You're only a Christmas-tree toy yourself," retorted Mister Alligator. "Your feathers are all pasted on and your bill is made of paper and your feet are made of wax and wire. So are your legs."

At this Mrs. Alligator grabbed the duck by the tail and Mister Alligator grabbed him by the neck and the feathers began to fly in all directions.

"I think I'll be going," said the fish uneasily, putting his eye-glasses away in his pocket. "I'm not sure about my scales I think they are only painted on, but if they should come off like the duck's feathers, I'd be a remarkable sight."

He hesitated a minute as he looked at the Twins, as though he had a notion to tuck one under each fin and walk off with them.

But he changed his mind and disappeared.

"Let's run!"

"Stop them!" shouted the alligators.

But although dozens of hands and paws reached out for them, the Twins kept on going. At last they reached the end of the town and sat down on a stone to rest.

RHEM OF CARDINALS IS SENSATION OF OLD LOOP

22-Year Old Phenom Gives Hornsby Crew Chance At Loop Pennant By His Work

Experienced Catchers Make Young Rookie Most Feared Hurler in National

BY BILLY EVANS
A NOTHER young pitching phenom is blossoming in the National League. He is Charles "Rhem" Rhem, who graduated from St. Louis College and the Fort Smith club of the Western association.

With less than a full season of professional experience before he entered the major league field, Rhem promises to develop into a genuine pitching star.

Them's pitching easily has overshadowed all major league rivals this season. His work not only has advanced "Ror" Hornsby's team to the first division class but it is barely possible that this 22-year-old youngster may be the means of giving the Cardinals a look-in for the National League pennant.

Rhem is built along the lines of the late Addie Joss. He is tall and slim but instead of featuring a side-arm and underhand shoot as Addie did, Rhem whips across an overhand curve and fire ball that set down many fence-busters.

The curve is the chief stock in trade. It is almost a reproduction of the shot that made Vic Willis famous years ago.

Last season, when Rhem started by winning eight out of 13 games, National League managers predicted that a pitcher's arm could not stand the strain of constant curve-ball shooting. And when Rhem failed to win a game after July 3, losing eight in succession, they were convinced that the precious arm had wilted.

However, what Rhem needed was an experienced catcher and coach. He found both when Bob O'Farrell, veteran receiver, was obtained by the Cardinals last summer and when Bill Killefer joined the club as coach.

O'Farrell and Killefer drilled with Rhem constantly during the training camp, with the result that it looks as if the Cardinals have the most promising National League pitcher since Pete Donohue made his debut with the Reds.

Rhem was discovered by Scout Charley Barrett while pitching for Clemson College in 1923. He was sent to Fort Smith club in the Western Association in 1924 and was the leading strikeout pitcher that season.

Wimbledon — (P) — Rain was falling as Suzanne Lenglen, who Wednesday disappointed a large gallery including Queen Mary, appeared Thursday for the Franco-American doubles feature in which she was paired with Dido Vlasto against Mary K. Brown and Elizabeth Ryan of California.

MANUSH FILLS COBB'S PLACE IN FINE STYLE

Heinie Manush, who has been playing center field in place of Cobb for Detroit, has been doing his share of hitting. Manush takes a wicked "cut" at the ball and when he connects, the pellet takes a nice ride. The other day Manush got three timely wallopers against the Athletics, one being a homer.

JOE BUSH HAVING HARD TIME GETTING STARTED

Joe Bush, like some of Washington's other veteran flingers, is finding the going pretty tough this season. Bush, obtained from the St. Louis Browns last winter, has been sent to the showers quite consistently. He did last through a game the other day, though being found for 14 safeties and nine runs.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO

BILLY MEHLHORN—GENERAL AND FROM ROUGH
It is not a good policy to take too much time with any shot. Study your shot thoroughly, then select your club, take your stance carefully and do not waggle your club more than three times. Twice would be sufficient. The beginners should learn to do the same, as they usually try to think of too many things at one time when playing slowly. This gets them in the habit of doing too much analytical thinking and playing too little sensible golf.

This advice does not mean to hurry through every shot and then race to the next one, because good golf will never be played if this is done.

It is not necessary to use a heavy club in the rough unless the grass is very long.

When bunkers are in the way I would take a chance on a high shot with a lofted club, with loft rather than backspin to make the ball fall dead. That is, if the length of the grass makes it impossible to apply backspin. But the pitch-and-run is more practical.

P-C SQUAD TOPS SOFTBALL LOOP AS LEGION FAILS

Hartzell Crew Whips Inter-lakes, 8-5; Triangles Beat Soldiers, 7-6, in 12th

WEDNESDAY'S GAMES
Post-Crescent 8, Interlake 5.
Y. M. C. A. 7, Legion 6 (12 innings.)

FRIDAY GAME
Legion vs Bankers.

Whipping the Interlake squad, conquerors of the Legion, 8-5 Wednesday afternoon at Jones park in a well-played game, the Post-Crescent ball crew regained a lone hold on the peak of the City Twilight Softball loop. For the Legion team, which shared the honors since its defeat last week and was alone on top before that, succumbed to the rejuvenated Y. M. C. A. squad in a postponed game played at Interlake park, losing a tough 12-inning tilt, 7-6. The win tied the Triangles with the Legion for second, giving them the second straight win of the week. Friday afternoon the Bankers meet the Legion crew in a regularly scheduled tilt. A Legion win will put that crew alone in second place once more, on the heels of the P-C men while a loss will shove it down to fourth and will tie the winning Bankers with the Y crew for second.

The Post-Crescent team played a slightly better brand of ball to beat the Interlakes, who fell behind the Meyer Press into last place by the loss. In the other game it was a case of a newly strengthened team beating a squad handicapped by the loss of four regulars, one of whom was Lothar Graef, one of the best softball hurlers in the city which made quite a difference. The 12-inning tilt sets a record in city softball circles, however.

In the P-C-Interlake game, LaRose and LaRoux hurled about an equal game both pitching good ball, but the P-C men hit in the pinches and the Papermen pulled off a pair of hard bobbles. Each team broke into the score column in the opening frame, Bates, LaRose and Eggert giving the winners three after Coon and Diez had given the losers two. In the second the score was tied when Kessler scored but in the third Bender and LaRose gave the P-C squad a two-run lead and Wenzlaff added another in the fourth. Here the Papermen scored again when Woods came over but it was the last effort until the final frame. With the score 6-4, LaRose and Schroeder added two more for the winners in the fifth and then both teams went runless until the final frame when Quell scored for the losers.

LaRose scored three times for the winners, being best hurling a classy tilt while Merkle and Eggert played good fielding games.

Lineups:
Post-Crescent—Stenard, 1st; Bender, cf; Bates, c; LaRose, p; Eggert, 3b; Schroeder, 2b; Merkle, lf; Wenzlaff, rss; Bente, rf; Hartzell, lb.

Interlake—Coon, rf; Diez, cf; Day, 2b; LaRoux, p; Quell, lf; Woods, 1st; Kessler, lb; Bandenberg, c; Wassenberg, rss; Anholzer, 3b.

Interlakes: 2 1 0 0 0 0 1—5
Post-Crescent: 3 0 2 1 0 2 0 0—8
Batteries—Post-Crescent, LaRose and Bates; Interlake, LaRoux and Bandenberg. Umpire, LaMere.

In the game at Interlake park, the Legion scored first when Horn came over in the opener but Dietrick tied it in the second. The Legion scored three times in the fourth and added two in the fifth for a nice 6-1 lead.

But here the Y sluggers broke lose and sent three over in the fifth and one each in the sixth and seventh while holding the Legion's scoreless. The Legion could not score after the fifth and the same was true of the winners after the seventh so when the final frame rolled around the tilt had to be prolonged. In the ninth a Legionaire crossed the pan with the inning run only to have the batted ball hit a runner for the third out, spoiling the run. In the twelfth the "bad one." With two down and a man on third and the batter having a pair of strikes, Baetz, Legion catcher, tried to get Kotal off the last sack. His throw was wild and Kotal scored, winning the game.

Kotal got three hits and J. Zussman and Voeks two apiece for the winners and Lutz hurled a nice game. One each in the sixth and seventh for the losers and Prager and Sylvester two. Sylvester hurled a nice game, but the work of Lothar Graef, regular moundsman, was missed. Les Smith was the star of the tilt in the field, invading all three gardens to garner hot flies in the absence of two of his regular fielders. The Y crew had Kotal and J. Zussman, two new stars, to strengthen their lineup.

Lineups:
Y. M. C. A.—Kotal, 1st; Duffner, c; Bahndt, rf; Bloor, lf; Dietrick, 3b; Lutz, p; Hillman, lb; J. Zussman, 2b; S. Zussman, rf; W. Voeks, rss.

Legion—Prager, 1st; Horn, 3b; Sylvester, p; lf; Baetz, c; Fries, lb; Kahn, 2b; Connolly, rss; Heible, cf; Bahndt, rf.

Legion: 1 0 0 3 2 0 0 0 0 0—7
Y. M. C. A.: 0 1 0 0 2 1 1 0 0 0 1—7
Batteries—Legion, Sylvester and Baetz; Y. M. C. A., Lutz and Duffner.

Umpire, Len Smith.

JACK HERNLY
No-hit, no-run games are rather common to this 17-year-old Lansing, (Mich.) high school pitcher. During the last season he hurled three of them in six trays, and in another allowed but one safety and one tally. In one tilt he whiffed 21 batters and had a consecutive strikeout record of seven.

Odds Favor Lenard In Scrap With Ortez In Oshkosh Ring

The Henry Lenard-Joe Ortez fistic argument, the windup feature of the open air boxing show at the fairgrounds, Oshkosh, June 30, is still more than a week in the offing, but ring followers find that the match is a lively topic of discussion wherever fight fans congregate.

Boxing enthusiasts in this city have always demonstrated considerable interest in any good bout, but never before has public approval of a match been so noticeable as for the Ortez-Lenard go.

Both principals have fought in this city, with impressive showings. Both have demonstrated to local fans that they have the speed, the punch and ring generalship that goes for a whirlwind bout. And that's what Oshkosh fans appreciate most.

Little scientific matchmaking was necessary in picking the Ortez-Lenard combination as the most-looked-for bout. Fans in this city and in the Fox valley have kept up a steady clamoring for the match and now it's "all set."

The Oshkosh Athletic association will have the distinction of promoting the first outdoor exhibition in the state this season, as the Milwaukee promoters have postponed until July because of conflicting dates with baseball.

The betting odds on the Lenard-Ortez scrap still remain about 10 to 8 and 10 to 7, favoring Lenard. The appearance of Ortez in this city will likely cause a bow of Ortez money and it is probable the boys will climb into the ring at "even money."

Lenard is expected in Oshkosh Wednesday with his manager and sparring partners. He will set up training quarters at a cottage at Butte des Morts to put on the finishing touches for the fight. Ortez is doing his heavy training at Morgenroth's gymnasium in Milwaukee, under "Bob" Moha's tutelage.

Reservations for tickets have been received from Ripon, Fond du Lac and Appleton, indicating that hundreds of fans throughout the valley will trek Oshkoshward a week from Wednesday.

OSHKOSH BALL SQUAD WANTS LOCAL GAMES

The South Side Merchants baseball team of Oshkosh, has a number of open dates in July and August and would like to book strong amateur squads of Appleton and vicinity for games in these months according to a communication received by the Post-Crescent sport department. The Sawdust city squad is one of the strong amateur teams of the valley. Games can be booked by writing or calling Ed Bernhard, 1122 Eleventh-st., Oshkosh.

SOUTHERN PRO. BEATS BOB'S MARK BY ONE

Nashville, Tenn. — (P) — A week ago, Bobby Jones pride of the southland, established a world's record for 36 holes of golf with a card of 134. Thursday another Southerner, by residence, but a native of Scotland, George Livingstone, clipped one stroke off Bobby's record, going the 36 holes in 133 at the Belle Meade Country club. Bobby's record was made when he qualified in the British open at Sunningdale, England. Livingstone set the pace for South-eastern Professional Golfers association tournament.

Livingstone went the first 18 holes in 67, and finished the last 18 in 66 to set a new record. Jack Hutchinson holds the record for the course, a 65 made in 1923.

The new record holder is 45 years of age and has been a professional at the Belle Meade club for 13 years.

All that's best in a cigarette

AFTER glorious exercise nothing is so refreshing as the fragrant smoke of a Camel. Wherever Camels go—to the seashore, to the mountains, to the office—they bring pleasure, full smoking enjoyment.

No other cigarette made ever gladdened the taste of so many millions, for Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown. Camels alone satisfy the taste for all that's best in a cigarette, for Camel blending can be found nowhere else at any price. Camels never tire the taste, never leave a cigarette after-taste.

Camel leadership over all other cigarettes shows that the smokers of America want smoking quality. Camel success is built up on goodness, by the world's largest tobacco organization. Each year the makers of Camels spend millions for quality, and not one cent for frills or fancy wrappings.

No two ways about it, Camels are the finest pleasure, the richest contentment that ever came from a cigarette. If you haven't yet found the utmost in cigarette goodness, answer the most popular smoke invitation ever sounded—
Have a Camel!

CARDINALS GAIN AS LEADERS LOSE

Hornsby Crew Closes Gap to N. L. Top; White Sox Down Tribe to Take 2nd

Chicago—(P)—Cincinnati had a lone percentage point advantage over Pittsburgh Thursday at the top of the National league. Both teams were beaten Wednesday.

Tolson's home run gave the Chicago Cubs 5 to 3 victory over the Reds in ten innings. Adolfo Luque pitched all the way to the tenth for Cincinnati, although hit by one of Charley Root's serves in the fifth. In the final innings, blood started from the Cuban's nose and Eppa Rixey relieved him.

Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, shot a base cleaning home run into the far spaces in the seventh and his club downed the Pirates, 6 to 2. Jess Haines allowed the Pittsburghers only five hits. This conquest placed the Cardinals one and one half games from the top.

Brooklyn strengthened its hold on fourth place by taking a double header from the Boston Braves, 3 to 1, and 6 to 4, ninth inning rallies bringing the verdict in both contests. Jess Petty gave the Bostonians five safeties in the first contest, while the Dodger bats fashioned 16 bingles in the second.

The Giants and the Phils washed out at the Polo Grounds. Before the game was called, the Phils got five runs including a homer by Harper. Eddie Collins and his White Sox advanced to second place in the American league, nine games behind the Yankees, by defeating Cleveland, 5 to 3. Chicago bats supporting Ted Blankenship's hurling at the proper time.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Valley conference high school athletic stars, always among the cream in Badger prep circles, are beginning to feel the "come on" touch of the big universities and colleges now that many of them are planning their future course. This year's seniors contain a flock of real players and all are in this class. Zuidmuller, East Green Bay's sensational back, who played some wonderful ball last fall, is being "bid" by Notre Dame and Wisconsin, so rumor goes a pair of Marinette boys have been approached and even Lawrence would like one or two Manitowoc boys, one of whom has a brother in school. The latest comes from Manitowoc where two of its best athletes are going to "work" on Northwestern's new stadium this summer through the efforts of N. U. alumni and may attend school there in the fall. Here's a shot from the Shipbuilder paper.

Danny Peppard and Clayton Shaw, local high school athletes, left yesterday morning for Evanston, Ill., where they will be employed for the summer on the new Northwestern stadium. The arrangements for taking the two stars there were made by local Northwestern alumni. Whether or not neither or both have been offered anything in the way of advantages toward school at the Purple institution is not known but generally believed true. Peppard is but a senior and will not be free to think of college for another year but Shaw graduated and has been pestered by offers from state schools. His tennis prowess has created no little talk down the valley.

Danny Peppard is absolutely one of the best athletes Manitowoc high has ever turned out. Playing on a week football squad last fall his backfield work was a sensation of the conference and only his team's standing kept him from an all-conference berth, though he was unanimously picked on all second squads and one first team with backs like Zuidmuller, DeTemple of Marinette and Hanson of Fondy. In basketball he lead his team with an ace of the conference title, helped them win the district meet and almost singlehanded landed them in the finals of the state meet. Shaw beside being one of the best tennis players in the state and valley conference champ, is a neat basketball player, starring on the 1926 squad.

With the statement in the Manitowoc paper, again arises the problem of getting home athletes to go to Wisconsin rather than other large universities. Up until the last year, in spite of all the work by Badger sport heads, the cream of our athletes have made an annual trek to foreign states where they continued to shine, often against the Cardinals. There is no method of stopping this trek, except an appeal to their state loyalty and often this is not practical when another school "offers" them a dozen extra advantages. Four all-American grid stars of the last two years, scattered on four different teams from the east to west coast, were Wisconsin high school products.

The grounds is reached by following highway 151 out of Appleton. The meet will start promptly at 2 o'clock and all shooters of Appleton and vicinity are invited to take part. The shoot will be a 50-target event. Shells for the affair will be sold right on the grounds.

RICKARD WANTS GENE, JACK GO IN CHICAGO

New York —(P)—Tex Rickard announced negotiations were under way with Chicago boxing interests with a view to staging the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight title bout there.

The promoter made this disclosure after flatly declaring that the Dempsey-Tunney fight, for which he holds the signed contracts of both principals, will be held "somewhere" on the date originally planned, September 16 in spite of the refusal of the state athletic commission Tuesday to permit the bout in New York.

BUD GORMAN BATTLES HEAVY KING TONIGHT

Boston—(P)—The bout between Bud Gorman, Kenosha, Wis., heavyweight, and Jack Sharkey of Boston, will be held "somewhere" on the date originally planned, September 16 in spite of the refusal of the state athletic commission Tuesday to permit the bout in New York.

New England heavyweight champion, has been postponed until Thursday night on account of threatened rain. The men were to have met Wednesday night in the feature event of an outdoor program at Braves field.

Los Angeles —(P)—Tommy O'Brien, New York, lightweight, beat Johnny Adams, San Bernardino, (10.)

San Francisco—Billy Adams, New Orleans welterweight, knocked out Chris Perry, Oakland, (8.)

STEPHENSON SWATTING HORSESHIDE FOR CUBS

Riggs Stephenson, one-time Cleveland, and recently acquired by the Chicago Cubs, has been whaling the leather in great style since joining the McCarthy forces a short time ago. Riggs always could punch the pill, only his inferior work afield keeping him from staying with the Indians last season.

ERRORS GIVE INDIANS WIN FROM BREWS, 3-2

Milwaukee — When Charley Stock announced: "For Milwaukee—Gearin and McIneney," he said a mouthful, but some stuttering labors afield added too much of a handicap and the Indians escaped with the third game of the series Wednesday, 3 to 2. The Midget forkhandler curved a splendid game for the Brewers but his only reward was the knowledge of a bad job beautifully done.

Michelins give 36% more miles

It does not pay to buy cheap tires

The labor and overhead in making cheap tires is the same as in good tires. Then if you must buy 2 cheap tires to go as far as 1 good tire, you pay twice as much as you should for labor and overhead, and you have twice as much trouble.

Don't buy tires in which reclaimed rubber is used. The U.S. Government's Bureau of Standards says that any given percentage of reclaimed rubber in a tire reduces the mileage of the tire by an even greater percentage.

Mr. Ford Owner—you can buy a Michelin 30x3 1/2 for only about $1.50 more than a 2nd grade tire. And the Michelin will give you at least 4000 miles more.

Pale and "dry" like an old wine

The minute you break the golden seal of the aristocratic bottle and pour a bit of "Canada Dry" slowly down the side of a thin-edge glass, as a connoisseur would pour a glass of fine old wine, you will know that here, at last, is real ginger ale.

Hold it to the light! See how clear it is! How it gleams and sparkles! The abounding life and vitality of it. The champagne-like "dryness" and color.

And then—taste it! Here is a revelation in ginger ale quality—a delicate, alluring flavor that intrigues your taste—a flavor unlike that of any other ginger ale you have ever tasted!

Try it soon. In purity—in quality—in flavor it is indeed "The Champagne of Ginger Ales."

It All Depends On Listening

A great rock can fall over a five-hundred foot precipice into a deserted valley without making a sound — because there's no one there to hear it!

And the biggest sort of an opportunity — to get something you need at a bargain or sell something you don't want at a good price — can come along right here in this city without being an opportunity to you at all — because you don't hear about it!

It takes two to make an opportunity, a conversation or a bargain — you and the fellow you're going to deal with. He may be ready for action — you may be ready for it — but nothing can happen unless you get together.

You'll find the A-B-C Classified Section the greatest listening place for opportunities in the city — the place for the most profitable "get-togethers!"

OSHOKSH PASTOR REELECTED HEAD OF CHURCH SYNOD

Rev. E. B. Schluetter Again
Chairman at Conference
Here

The Rev. E. B. Schluetter, Oshkosh was reelected chairman of the northern Wisconsin district of the Wisconsin Lutheran synod at the first business session of the district convention Wednesday afternoon at St. Paul church. The convention began Wednesday morning and will continue through this week. About 250 delegates and visitors are attending.

Other officers elected were the Rev. August F. Zick, Green Bay, first vice president; the Rev. Karl Toepele, Manitowish, second vice president. Elections were continued at the Thursday afternoon session.

The convention opened Wednesday morning at St. Paul church with a session by the Rev. G. E. Bergman, Fond du Lac, president of the Wisconsin synod. At the afternoon session, reports of the district president and the district secretary, the Rev. G. E. Boettcher, Hortonville, were read.

The morning meetings are devoted to educational and devotional subjects while the afternoon sessions are reserved for the convention business. Thursday morning the Rev. P. Schumann of Sawyer, presented a topic for discussion.

JONES, MEHLHORN LEAD GOLF MEET

Each Has Score of 144 for
Two-day Play as Hagen
Spoils 68 With Poor 77

St. Annes, England.—(AP)—Walter Hagen lost his commanding first round lead in the British open golf tournament with a loose 77 Thursday.

The American professional star fought valiantly all the way, but the figures would not come. He failed to score a single birdie and had only one three, the rest being fours and fives.

On the outward journey he dangerously hugged the bunkers and railway to the right of the fairway and was trapped six times in the first nine holes.

Bill Mehlhorn, Chicago professional led the two-third completed field with an aggregate of 144 for the two-days play. He followed up his record breaking 70 of Wednesday with a good 74 Thursday.

Bobby Jones, the American amateur champion, tied Mehlhorn by shooting another 72 to add to his fine round of the same figure Wednesday.

Results:
Cyril Tolley, 79-55-164; George Gadd, 80-71-151; Jim Barnes, (American) 77-80-157; Jim Braid, 82-75-157; Watts Gunn (American amateur) 82-80-162; Cyril Walker (American) 79-71-150; Emmet French (American) 76-75-151; Antonio Perez (Argentina) 76-75-151; Whiter Hagen 68-77-145; Roland Mac Kenzie (American amateur) 79-84-163; Arthur Havers 75-78-153; Jose Jarade (Argentine) 77-76-153; George Von Elm (American amateur) 75-72-147; Bill Mehlhorn (American) 70-74-144; Bob Jones (American amateur champion) 72-72-144.

SANDWICH POLITICS BETWEEN DANCING, TEA

London.—(AP)—Fill them with tea, let them dance and talk politics to them in the interval. This is the advice to the women's unionist organization given by Mrs. Dudley Stanhope referring to the young people of today.

"It has been discovered," she said, that political powers are contained in the homely and humble cup of tea. If the voting age is lowered from 30 to 21 there may be six million extra irresponsible young women on the register.

Philadelphia Exposition Aids Business In Capitol

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Washington is very much obliged to Philadelphia for having a Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

Washington expects to get about as much of it as Philadelphia does and the beauty of it is—Washington's part will be clear profit, while Philadelphia will have to pay all the bills.

The theory is that most people who come any distance to see the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition will figure, while they're about it and so near, they'd better see the capital, too.

Thus Washington is laying her plans for the best tourist year she's ever had.

In summer Washington generally is rather flat. Except under abnormal conditions, like those of the war, Congress is scattered hither and yon. The summer climate isn't of a kind to advertise the president's away.

Society adjourns to other parts. The embassies and legations are run by underlings.

But this season looks promising. Philadelphia has sown and Washington reaps it can reap handsomely.

There are, for instance, several national conventions of various sorts which Philadelphia had expected to get but which Washington hopes to entertain instead.

Philadelphia's weakness is that she isn't geared to accommodate a violently fluctuating transient population.

GREEN POWDER IS RAGE IN LONDON

Beauty Specialists Say It Gives Delightfully Transparent Hue

London.—(AP)—Complexions which give the face a transparent hue and an ivory pallor have come into favor here.

The vogue came up along with the breath of spring from the Riviera, where the evening hour of the toilet is devoted to obliterating the effects of the sun and the sea.

London ball rooms from the tea time forward have become full of pale young women who appear with mysterious shadows around their eyes.

The first object of a make-up now is to have the face as striking as possible in a pale interesting way, say the beauty doctors. It must not be beautiful, but it must be arresting.

A new powder is of a shade green, made for fair women—it makes them appear fairer and paler than ever.

For the brunette there is a powder of orchid color to be with a little rouge of a deep dull red.

ister who care only for dancing, picture houses and other pleasures. The only way to appeal to them is through the things they like and enjoy. If they are keen on dancing give them a dance and tea, and get a speaker to talk politics for ten minutes."
